PRIMARY VOTE
IN CALIFORNIA
SHOWS SHIFT

State Changes from Constant
Dry Support of Four Years Ago to Strong Wet
HAD OPPOSED SMITH
Change Will Have Moral Effect on Democrats Who Have Been on Fence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—If anything could illustrate the change in the national political situation as it affects Governor Al Smith from four years ago to this year, it is the result in the California primaries.
Instead of voting constantly for a dry candidate, William Gibbs Mc-Adoo, as it did in Madison, Square Garden in 1924, the California delegation will vote at Houston for an outstanding wet and the man whom it vigorously opposed last time.
California's vote on Governor Smith, which was more than the votes of Senator Reed and Senator Walsh combined, will have a moral effect throughout the country on Democrats who have been on the fence. If Governor Smith can capture a state which was so strongly influenced by Mr. Smith's opponent of four years ago, he is in a position to capture other states where the pendulum does not require so much momentum to swing it toward his candidate.

MAY ASSURE NOMINATION
It will be said by many politicians that the California primary assures Governor Smith the nomination, for it was a state in which a battle was carried on against him at the polls.
It was not a case of a manipulated state convention as is often the case in pre-convention scrambles for delegates.

But entirely apart from the Democratic race, the result in California will affect the Republican race. It tends to show that Herbert Hoover is of course, strong in his home state, but it accentuates the possibility that the opposing candidates may be Secretary Hoover and Governor Smith.
To some Republicans this does not mean the assurance of victory that would come from a race between Governor Smith and Governor Smith, who will convention time that idea will be the principal obstacle the Hoover managers will have to overcome. And Governor Smith's strength as a vote getter will be more a subject of discussion in Republican circles than in Democratic.

BETTER ORGANIZED
There is no doubt that the Smith movement in California was better organized than that of its opponent.
Senator Walsh came into the race at a late date. So far as California is concerned, he is not as strong as William Gibbs McAdoo. From the viewpoint of the dry, they will continue to maintain that Mr. McAdoo would have carried the state against any other Democrat. But in politics the results are the important things and today Governor Smith stands with most of the western states on his side, plus the big eastern states, so that if the South gives him only a few states, it may be enough to win his nomination in the early balloting.

THOMAS STILL IN AIR
IN ENDURANCE TRIAL

Roosevelt Field, N. Y.—(AP)—With more than a third of his necessary time in the air behind him royal V.
Thomas, lone hand aspirant for the world endurance flight record, was still climbing above the flying fields
Thursday.

Thomas took the air in a ship similar to Charles Levine's Columbia, which made an endurance record year ago, at 12:30:31 p. m. eastern daylight time, Wednesday. He would have to stay up until 7:05:04 Friday night to set a new record.

On the way he hoped to beat Lind-bergh's record for an unaccompanied flight of 33 hours and a half, which he would surpass by staying in the air until 10 o'clock Thursday.

265 STAMPEDE TO LAKE
FOR BEAVER TRAPPING

Seward, Alaska—(AP)—With a thousand Malamutes yelping and tugging at the traces of sledges, 265 men and women Thursday were participating in a stampede to Clark's Lake—with beaver, not gold, as their hope.
The rush started at Ilamna, on Cook's inlet, where the stampedeers gathered to await the hour at which they might start for Clark's lake, thrown open on May 1 for 30 days of beaver trapping.
Each person is privileged to trap 20 beaver during the 30 days after which the district will be closed for an indefinite period.
Trappers from all parts of Alaska,
who have camped on the winter bound shores of the lake, were attracted to the area.

QUIZ CANDIDATES.
ON CAMPAIGN FUND

14 Republicans, Democrats Requested to Come to Capital

Washington—(AP)—All presidential candidates are to be asked to appear before the special senate committee named to inquire into campaign expenditures.

The committee dispatched telegrams
Thursday to all of the candidates asking them to testify at their convenience and also to name their agents who could report on expenditures.
Chairman Steiwer believes a start on the investigation ordered by the senate may be made by next Monday in view of the fact that many of the candidates already are in Washington.

Quizzing of the candidates themselves is a new procedure in this kind of an investigation.
Fourteen new—six Republicans and eight Democrats—were asked by telegraph to "please indicate earliest convenient date for the taking of your testimony."
They were—Republicans—Frank
O. Lowden, Herbert Hoover and Senators Watson, Indiana; Curtis, Kansas; Norris, Nebraska and Gov. West Virginia.

Democrats—Governor Smith of New York; Senators Reed, of Missouri;
Walsh of Montana and George of Georgia; Governor Ritchie of Maryland; Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee; Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska and Allee Pomerene of Ohio.

WITNESSES REPORT ON MURDER OF MISSIONARY

Shanghai—(AP)—Five Southern soldiers killed Dr. Walter F. Seymour, Presbyterian missionary at Tsinang, as he sought to close the gates of the mission against their intrusion; according to the story told there Thursday by his widow and C. K. Eames, another missionary.

Mrs. Seymour was a former resident of Reedsburg, Wis., a daughter, Ida, resides in Milwaukee and a son is a student at Northwestern university.
Mrs. Seymour and Mr. Eames arrived in Shanghai Thursday after a two days trip atop a box car from Tsinang. Eames said that after Seymour had fallen the soldiers succeeded in unbaring the heavy wooden gate and entered the compound. They robbed the body and departed.

PROMINENT BANKER
DIES IN NEW YORK

New York—(AP)—Alvin W. Kreech, chairman of the board of trustees of the Equitable Trust Co., one of the largest banks in the country, died suddenly in his office Thursday.

Mr. Kreech was interested in numerous business, cultural and philanthropic enterprises. He was a director of the Denver and Rio Grande Western, Ann Arbor, Norfolk Southern, Wabash, Western Maryland, Western Pacific and other railroads, and chairman of the board of Western Pacific.

Hanging Of Brother Fails
To Keep Youth From Crime

Chicago—(AP)—Nick Viana killed a man eight years ago, and they hanged him for it.
Nick was only 12, which was young to die. He had played around with the boys of the notorious Cardinella gang. One of their victims had resisted and had been shot dead. From his pockets Viana had his pals got $5 and a few pennies and on Dec. 10, 1920,
the state hanged him.
Mrs. Viana, Nick's mother, went to the death house on the eve of the execution for a last word with her son—he who had once been a choir boy. At her side trudged the condemned man's 10-year-old brother, Paul, trembling at the sight of his big brother's chalk white face and the bloody gown walls.
"In the morning," said the mother to the little boy, "your brother must die because he did wrong. Promise me, Paul, that you will always be good."

REVISED PLAN
READY FOR CAL
BEFORE MONDAY

Most of Conferees Think Coolidge Will Sign in Spite of Objected Clauses

Washington—(AP)—Reaffirming their action of Wednesday, house and senate conferees agreed Thursday upon the report on the final form of the $325,000,000 Mississippi river flood control measure and were prepared to push the conference agreement through the two houses Thursday or Friday.

If they are successful the revised measure would be ready for President Coolidge Sunday or Monday. Most of the conferees still are of the opinion that the chief executive will sign the measure, although it still carries some provisions to which he objected.
As finally approved by the conferees
the measure authorizes a total appropriation of $325,000,000 for carrying out the flood control project from the headwaters below New Orleans to Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Its essential features are:
Creation of a board of three engineers, one to be named from civil life, to consider the engineering differences between the army engineers plan and the Mississippi river commission plan and make recommendations to the president whose decision must be followed in carrying out the project.

Places the full burden of the flood control plan on the federal government except that the states or levee districts shall provide without cost to the United States all right of way for levee foundation and levees on the main stem of the Mississippi river between Cape Girardeau and the Head of Passes.

Provides that the United States shall give flowage rights for destruction of floodwaters, that will pass by reason of diversions from the main channel of the Mississippi but that in all cases where the execution of the flood control plan results in benefits to property, such benefits shall be taken into consideration by way of reducing the amount of compensation to be paid.

Provides that no liability of any kind shall attach to or rest upon the United States for any damage from or by floods or flood waters at any place and also that if found to be impracticable to construct levees on any stretch of the main river and the lands in such stretch of the stream are subjected to greater overflow and damage by reason of the construction of levees on the opposite bank of the river, the United States will institute proceedings to acquire either absolute ownership of such lands or floodage rights over them.

Makes available ten million dollars of the total sum authorized for carry-

WINDS DAMAGE CITIES
THROUGHOUT NEBRASKA

Lincoln, Neb.—(AP)—Laden with rain in most sections of the state, a high wind ripped through Nebraska last night causing unestimated property damage and impairing communications.

Reports indicated the fury of the storm was centered in Clark, Neb., where the gale wrecked practically the entire business district. Several persons were slightly hurt by flying debris at Clark.

Twenty houses were demolished
there, three business buildings levelled and hundreds of trees and telephone and telegraph poles snapped off. The town was completely cutoff from outside communication early today.
Clark has a population of about 80.
In parts of northern Nebraska hail accompanied the wind.

The gale roared through Lincoln, unroofing one residence and several small buildings and tearing limbs from trees.

Eleven Prominent D. A. R.
Resign In Blacklist Row

New Haven, Conn.—(AP)—Eleven prominent members of two local chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution have resigned in protest of the blacklisting of speakers.
The organization's blacklist, upon which the names of many prominent persons in the country who are barred as unpatriotic from addressing D.
A. R. meetings, recently received the endorsement of the national organization.

William Lyon Phelps, wife of a Yale professor, and Mrs. Joseph Whitney widow of Judge Edwin B. Whitney, two of those who resigned, issued a statement saying they can no longer continue membership in an organization which "adopts a policy striking at the roots of American freedom and contrary to the spirit of the first amendment of the constitution which it has sworn to uphold."

"The present policies of the Daughters of the American Revolution substitute a face-about to tyrannical suppression of all who differ with the present national officers on the questions of the day."

"If such action should succeed the result would be to crush the initiative and creative energy of the American people."

"The D. A. R. should not try to suppress free speech when such is within the bounds set by the laws of our country."

"The climax is reached when the preaching of ignorance is called 'patriotic' and efforts to prevent the horrors and agonies of another World war are called 'unpatriotic.' It is then time to protect our Patriotism, our love of the traditions of our fathers, and the principles on which our country was founded and through which it can best flourish in the future as in the past."

Others who resigned were:
Mrs. Irving Fisher, wife of a Yale professor who had been named on the blacklist; Miss Mary E. Dunn, former president of the New Haven visiting nurses' association; Mrs. Hanna Townshend, the first New Haven woman representative in the legislature;
Miss Elizabeth W. Farnham, head of

Voters; Miss Clifford Newton; Mrs. Jo-

Bradley; Mrs. Allen B. Squire, and Mrs. J. T. Babba.

FLYERS RETURN TO GOTHAM FOR

Wear Decorations Received in Washington from the United States

Miller Field, Staten Island, N. Y.— (AP)—The German-Irish crew of the transatlantic monoplane Bremen came back to New York Thursday in a slipper ship of their transocean plane attending the welcome of the nation's capital.

The flyers landed in the Junkers F-13, using the repaired propeller of the Bremen.

Washington—(AP)—Wearing distinguished national decorations for their Atlantic crossing from east to west and with fond recollections of a crowded round of reception in their honor, the three Bremen flyers turned back to New York Thursday to prepare for an air tour of the eastern half of the United States.

First received in the name of the nation at Billings field, their departure point Thursday, Baron von Huenfeld, Captain Herman Kochl, and Major James Fitzmaurice were carried to the White house where they were decorated with the distinguished flying cross by President Coolidge, to the National Press club for a reception at Arlington, where they passed wreaths on the tomb of the unknown soldier, to the capitol for a rousing welcome by the legislators and pages in the senate and house, to dinner with the German and Irish diplomatic representatives, and finally to a brilliant reception last night at the Mayflower hotel, headquarters for their day and night stay.

More than 2,000 guests crowded the hotel ballroom to greet the airmen. Present were cabinet members, senators, representatives, ambassadors, ministers, and scores of other government and diplomatic representatives. The rich, colorful garb worn by women and the resplendent full dress diplomatic uniforms presented a striking picture as the flyers bowed low to kiss the hands of each woman guest and shook hands with the men.

Pushing to the capitol, the flyers were accorded what was believed to have been their most enthusiastic welcome. Laying aside their legislative duties, senators and representatives formed receiving lines in their respective chambers and then filed by to shake hands of the distinguished visitors. The pages also took part while Vice-President Davis presented them to Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Tobin-son, of Arkansas, wife of the senator minority leader.

They also were introduced formally to Speaker Longworth on the house side and taken to see the supreme court.

CITY LETS CONTRACT FOR SPRING PAVING AND SEWER PROJECTS

Talk of Decentralized Fire Department Takes Up Time of Councilmen

Contracts for paving Wisconsin-ave from N. Richmond-st to N. Mendest and Water-st from N. Drew to N. Jackson-sts were awarded the F. P. Coughlin company Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the city council. S. Summit-st was ordered paved with concrete and as the Coughlin company was the only bidder it probably will be awarded the job after benefits and damages are determined.

The contract for laying sewers in Bouten, Verbrick and Loev plats in the upper Fourth ward was awarded F. E. Kaminski company and work will be started immediately. The contract for the sewer on Cherry-st to S. Adams-st was awarded R. J. Wilson company. The latter contract also involves the sewer across the River-view golf grounds. This tract will not be laid until fall, however.

The recommendation of the street and bridge committee to open W. Fourth-st from S. Mason to S. Outagamie-st was accepted after considerable argument as to the propriety of such procedure and the expense involved. Alderman Vanderheyden led the opposition, maintaining there was no need for the extension and that the city could not afford it.

Other recommendations of the street committee were that the city buy lot 1, block 33, Fifth ward plat, at a cost of not more than $2,000 for the extension of W. Washington-st, open Levee-st, N. Division-st to N. Hancock-st, W. Winnebago-st between N. State and N. Mason-st, W. Elsie-st, Sherman-pl and Fox-st, extend a sewer from the corner of N. Meade and E. Wisconsin-ave north to Brewster-st, permit erection of several electric signs and install catch basins.

The street lighting committee recommended that bids be obtained for repairing the ornamental light system on Cherry-st, bridge, while the judiciary committee recommended payment of $308.64 in back taxes to the Green Bay-Mississippi Canal company. The amount was about half the original claim on taxes paid on property incorrectly described. Payment of $1,000 was disallowed on the grounds that part of the claim was outlawed.

The recommendation of the rural affairs committee of the chamber of commerce on the condition of the stock fair grounds was referred to the street and bridge committee but not until it brought forth the question of decentralizing the station and a new location for the city barns. The suggestion to sell the present fire station, erect small bungalow type houses at several points and move the street barns off the fair grounds to a new location came from Alderman Walter Gmelner.

Alderman John Dierich disapproved the proposed move, but Alderman R. P. Medillan reminded the council that a decentralized fire department was coming soon and was being demanded of the city by fire underwriters.

A bill from of $26 from M. Spector for repairing a side walk on S. Appleton-st, undermined by a broken water pipe, was referred to the fire and water committee.

The city officials expressed little desire to go to the League of Wisconsin Municipalities convention in Milwaukee in the "Pride of Appleton" as suggested in a communication from the North American Airways company. They did not state, however, whether they objected to the air ride or the cost of the trip.

Mayor Rulo addressed the councilmen on the need of new accounting system in the city clerk's office and the necessity of ascertaining the condition of the E. Pacific-st bridge.

A resolution ordering the fire chief's car refinished was adopted and the question of accepting persons dumping rubbish and garbage in the ravine on W. Atlantic-st, near the Fifth ward park, was referred to the street and bridge committee.

The meeting closed with a discussion on the progress of ordinance revision. Hugo Koller, reviser of city ordinances, told the councilmen: "I would like to have informed discussions with them next week and would have most of the new ordinances ready for the next meeting of the council."

In letter golf, as in baseball, a WALK may develop into RUNS if it comes in a tight place. Today's par is six, but you may be able to beat the solution on page 9.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in as few given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN in three strokes, COW, NOW, HEW, HEN.

2—you can change only one letter at a time.

3—you must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—the order of letters cannot be changed.

NO WHITE BASS YET IS REPORT OF FISHERMEN

The white bass season won't start until about May 10 or 15 and the pike season is drawing to an end, according to resort owners at Gills Landing and Fremont. In the former case the season is early and in the latter the best season is nearly over.

Attention of fishermen now is being turned to trout for a few days but only fair and indifferent reports are being brought down from the northern streams. The water is still too high and the air too cold according to veteran fishermen.

There are few fishermen around any of the Wolf river resorts, it is said, although resort owners are preparing for a rush about the time the bass season gets under way. The first news of good bass fishing will start the trek to that territory, they say.

ALDERMEN TOLD HOW SOCIAL WORKER CAN CUT CITY EXPENSES

Would Save Twice What It Would Cost to Have Her, Judge Heinemann Says

Work carried on by a social service case worker and the need for such a worker here were explained to Appleton aldermen Wednesday evening by Miss Mary Hayes, Kaukauna, and Judge Fred V. Heinemann, at a meeting of the city council committee of the whole. The purpose of a worker was explained to the aldermen by Mrs. S. C. Shannon at an informal meeting a week ago and the request was made then to have person intimately connected with social work address the group.

The amount of state funds which go to charitable institutions to care for social cases was first discussed by Miss Hayes. She stated that in many instances this expense could be eliminated if social workers were sent into homes and by helping the head of a family arrange things or by rehabilitating parents keep families together and the children out of state institutions.

Particular emphasis was laid on what could be accomplished among children and themselves.

This, he said, could be accomplished in part by the services of a trained social case worker.

Cases of incorrigible children, who are brought into county court were cited by the judge as examples of work a social case worker probably would cut in half. In these instances her duty would be to visit the home of a child came from, and make a survey of health conditions and environment and then set about to correct the condition.

Judge Heinemann also proved his points with actual examples in the city of Appleton or Outagamie-co. The city has the majority of cases where a social worker's services are needed, he said. It is a natural condition, he added, because persons who cannot support families in the country invariably come to cities where they think conditions will be better. There are enough cases in Appleton to keep three social workers busy, he said.

Health conditions which result in children being confined to state institutions at great public expense, which, if discovered sooner, could have been corrected at lesser expense also were cited by the judge. In these instances too, he said, changes in home conditions, carried out under the direction of a competent leader, would have prevented much of the trouble. A trained social case worker will save the city twice the amount it costs to have her, Judge Heinemann said.

WANT TEST CASE ON GASOLINE TAX LAW

City Attorney of Racine to Ask Permission from Supreme Court

Madison—(P)—Proposals of the city of Racine to test the constitutionality of the state gasoline tax law involves an annual income of six million dollars available to the state highway department for Wisconsin roads.

Martin Paulson, city attorney of Racine, is to seek permission of the supreme court on May 8 to begin action to determine constitutionality of the tax law.

The attorney general's department, whose duty it will be to defend the law's constitutionality if the high court permits the action, has decided not to oppose the city's request, but to facilitate it in its efforts to have the supreme court take original jurisdiction.

In the state of Illinois, the supreme court recently declared a gasoline tax law of that state unconstitutional. The attorney general of Wisconsin points out, however, that the tax laws of the two states differ materially, and that several other states of the nation have similar laws which their high courts have held to be constitutional. The Federal inspection of Co. D, 127th infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, and of Armory G will be made by Captain Don C. Faith, United States army, Wednesday evening, May 2. The regular Monday evening drill has been postponed to Wednesday because of inspection.

supreme court of the United States has ruled the tax law valid.

The point which the city of Racine is expected to raise, should the court grant it permission to make complaint, is that the tax is discriminatory in that it imposes a tax on the man who drives a car, while others who use the public roads are not similarly assessed.

Decision as to the constitutionality of the law, should the court take jurisdiction, is not expected for at least six months. Decisions are to be handed down May 8 and in June, and after that no more may be expected until September. It is also thought that the court may do as it did in the home rule amendment case and ask interested parties and cities to file briefs as "friends of the court."

A final decision from the court, if it deems the law unconstitutional, would deprive the state of an annual income of six million dollars, which is being used in highway work.

How Many Telephone Calls Do You Make During Day?

If 85 girls handle 45,000 calls in one day in the traffic department of the Appleton central office of the Wisconsin Telephone company, how many does one girl handle? The arithmetic involved is simple, but to the telephone girl at the switch board it means meeting approximately 525 different personalities in making that many connections.

Of the 45,000 calls handled each day, $00 are toll calls through local operators, classified as A. B. calls. These are toll calls to or from a point within a radius of 32 miles, including Green Bay, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, New London, Hortonville, and other cities. Approximately 600 toll calls are classified as C. L. R. calls or the "no hang up service." These are regular toll calls from any point, regardless of distance, but are handled by local operators who connect the Appleton caller without the necessity of hanging up the receiver.

During the busy periods of the day, 25 local operators and 10 toll operators are on duty. During the course of 24 hours, 85 girls change shifts, including two matrons, two chief operators, two information clerks, and several other clerks.

The busiest periods of the day are from 9 to 11 o'clock in the morning, from 2 to 3 o'clock in the afternoon and from 6:30 to 8 o'clock in the evening when the most calls are put in, according to H. M. Fellows, local manager. Most of the morning calls are put in by housewives calling for supplies and those in the afternoon are business and general conversations by women who have completed the most of their day's work and sit down for a friendly chat over the phone. The calls in the evening are made mostly by young people.

The busiest periods of the year, according to Mr. Fellows, are around Christmas time, after holidays, elections, prize fights, accidents, storms and other unusual events.

NEENAH COUNCILMEN APPROPRIATE MONEY TO AID PLAYGROUND

Bergstrom Paper Company Plans Huge Tunnel as Part of Power Project

Neenah—The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held Wednesday evening and considerable business transacted. Problems coming under the street, highway and bridge committee supervision took up most of the evening for discussion.

A petition from the Bergstrom Paper company asked permission to construct a tunnel for the purpose of diverting the flow of water from the river in which to run lines for a proposed power system. The petition which asked that the preliminary work be allowed to start next year and the tunnel to be covered with cement in 1929, was referred to the board of public works.

The council voted favorably on the recommendation of the street highway and bridge committee to place the tunnel south of W. Wisconsin ave. from Church-st. through to Main-st. west; was in favor of taking legal action in securing a curb and gutter on Brien-st. and to place "go slow" signs at each approach to prevent accidents where the street is narrow caused by the Presbyterian church occupying about eight feet of the city's property favored creating of parking space at the city hall yards and referred the proposition to the committee on parks and public buildings and grading Eleventh-st.

A recommendation from the planning commission to add lot 3 Block C and lot 9, Block D, known as the park point, to the city's park system and place it under jurisdiction of the park department was referred to the committee on parks and public buildings and grading Eleventh-st.

An appropriation of $500 to the Red Cross chapter for the purpose of continuing the playground work on lines similar to that of last year including play for the children during the morning hours; older children in the afternoon, swimming and lifesaving tests and softball leagues at the parks was authorized.

May 23, 24 and 25 are dates for the annual Municipality convention at Milwaukee and the mayor and council may attend, the aldermen decided.

Plans drawn by W. Sindahl for remodeling the second floor of the city hall to make room for the clerk, treasurer and waterworks department office, were presented and accepted, and the clerk authorized to advertise for bids for the work.

"Having been appointed president of the board of health, Mr. Mayor intend to do my duty and keep the city as white as snow and cleaner than it has ever been before. And in connection with that I know of several characters here in the city who have not washed their faces and necks for some time and are a disgrace to the city. These I will compel to take a bath," said Alderman Martens of the second ward.

The recommendation for a raise in salaries for police and firemen, presented at the last council meeting, was held up for further investigation. The ordinance governing dogs about the city will be revised so as to take in "allowing dogs at large" at certain times of the year. The mayor appointed Alderman Herziger and Eberstein to do the revising. The engineer was allowed to assist in a salary not to exceed $115 a month.

More time was taken on accepting the Hanson plat in the south city limits in order that better roads can be placed. A resolution, setting aside all land acquired by placing a wall from Lincoln-st. across to the Chicago Northwestern railway tracks for a sewer outlet for the Third and Fifth wards, be used solely for a park and recreation place, was passed. An appropriation of $150 was made to the E. A. R. to assist in defraying Memorial day expenses. In connection with Memorial day, a committee composed of Aldermen Arneemann and Stimp was appointed to call upon Mr. Ellis, Appleton, in an effort to secure a parade to be held on the Memorial day.

Alderman Marten reported that the board of health met and organized with himself as president, Dr. Zernick, secretary, Dr. N. M. Fitz, physician and James Roemer, inspector.

A card of thanks was received from J. B. Scheller, newly appointed supervisor in the Second ward to take the place of Charles Schultz who died last week.

The clerk reported he had received funds from the families of David Williams, Joseph Eikenstein, Mrs. Peter Christofferson, J. Lau and Mrs. Louise Roland, for perpetual care of cemetery lots. His action was ratified upon motion.

Petitions for water main on Edna ave. between Railroad and Center-sts. Henry-st. between Caroline and Sher-ris, and Eleventh-st. between Hew-itt and Nicolet-brid, were presented and referred to the water works committee. A petition signed by 25 property owners on Oak-st. between Wisconsin-ave and Park-st., asking that that street be paved with cement, and a remonstrance from 31 residents on the same street objecting to the pavement, were presented and referred to the board of public works. Non-intoxicating drink licenses were given Albert Pitt for his place on E. Wis-

PROCEED WITH PAVING PROJECT AT NEENAH

Neenah—While the Winnebago board was divided in allowing federal aid to the city of Neenah in paving S. Commercial-st. and Winnebago-ave, which are part of the state and county highway, action was deferred until the July session. The paving work will proceed however, and should the aid be granted, the amount can be deducted afterwards.

SPORTSMEN PROTEST ILLEGAL FISHING

Send Resolution to Conservation Commission Asking for Quick Action

Neenah—A resolution, a copy of which was sent to L. G. Neider, of Madison, was passed Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Neenah Sportsman club, asking that the state take action to rid the east shores of Lake Winnebago, of fish pirates. This has been going on for the last six years, the resolution pointed out and nothing has been done to stop it. The resolution also pointed out that Neenah, Menasha, Appleton and Oshkosh were going to join in asking this relief. The general sealing for carp and the taking of fish from below the Neenah dam and shipping them to other parts of the state, also was asked investigated as to the manner of sealing, which in some cases allows the smaller carp to go back into the water by the large meshed nets. By this method, someone is making a good living and will continue for years to come so long as the nets used have the large meshes.

The meeting was attended by more than 250 members. The report of the secretary shows that 250 new members had been signed up in the last two weeks making the total membership of 358 men. He also reported that pheasant chicks, recently purchased, were placed on the Boy Scout farm where they will be raised and mated and if need be, more will be purchased to make a perfect flock before turning them loose next spring. Many thousand perch and pike fry have been secured by the club to plant in the north end of Lake Winnebago.

An invitation from John Herziger and Martin Wacholz asking that the next meeting of the club be held at one of their cottages on the lakeshore south of the city, in July, was accepted and arrangements will be made for a program of outdoor sports for that meeting.

The request was made by the Neenah and Menasha merchants that the state highway commission construct a temporary bridge across the government canal between the two cities until a new bridge is constructed was turned down by the highway commission. The commission agreed to pay $4,000 toward construction of such temporary bridge, which would cost $15,000. This sum was found by commission engineers to be equal the state that would be incurred by the state if detours were arranged to the Mill-st bridge which would be used if no temporary structure were put up. The Neenah-Menasha merchants argued that putting all traffic on the Mill-st bridge would congest traffic and would damage business on Tayco-st where the proposed new bridge is to be built.

RUMOR NEW BUILDING WILL BE ERECTED ON LANDGRAF HOTEL SITE

Menasha Buzzes With Story That Ancient Landmark Is to Be Removed

Menasha—Persistent reports are in circulation to the effect that a deal has been closed or is about to be closed for the purchase of the Landgraf hotel property at the corner of Main, Tayco and Kaukaunus-sts and that the present building is to be replaced by a new block which will contain a theatre, two stores and several flats. That there is some foundation to the report is evidenced by the fact that the Elks grocery store which has occupied the Main-st end of the building for the last five years is moving into the building at 23 Main-st which was formerly occupied by the White Front restaurant. It is also known that one of the leading oil companies has made inquiries about the site with the view of installing a filling station. So far very little information of what is taking place has been given to the public. The hotel is one of the landmarks of the city and was given considerable notoriety last winter through the hearing which resulted in the removal from office of Walter Plummer, former sheriff of Winnebago-co.

M. E. BISHOPS SEE LITTLE CHANCE FOR UNION OF CHURCHES

Keynote Address to M. E. Conference Attacks Rabid Dry Workers

Kansas City—(UP)—Possibility of a world union of Christian churches is remote and beyond consideration at present, the board of bishops reported Wednesday to the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here.

The matter of Christian unity drew earnest attention from the bishops, who in their Episcopal address also considered prohibition, divorce, companionate marriage, race literature and dramatics, the younger generation, war and peace fundamentalism.

The address, keynote speech of the conference lasting until May 29, was the bishops' four-year report to the 15,000,000 disciples of Methodism. It was prepared by Bishop Luther D. Wilson of New York and concurred in by the 43 other bishops.

Taking up the proposed union of Catholic and Protestant churches the bishops reported the door was closed because "the recent encyclical of the Roman pontiff repeats and elaborates the contention that the union of Christendom demands, as an unconditional requirement, the acceptance of papal primacy and subscription to Roman Catholic dogma."

"If there is to be union, the Vatican insists that it must be by a return of all the wandering flocks to the historic fold," a stipulation the bishops made plain beyond compromise.

Regretting that no progress looking toward the unification of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, could be reported the board observed "We would be untrue to ourselves if we did not confess our yearning for the reunion of episcopal Methodism since 1844 divided." Commissioners to represent the church in negotiations for unification were suggested.

Discussing prohibition the bishops reported "We are in an hour as critical as any to which we have ever come. The eighteenth amendment has been written into our constitution and there it will doubtless remain. . . . We have learned by experience, however, that where customs of long standing are affected by law, constitutional or statutory especially where there is involved the question of political power, commercial gain or personal restraint, the written law is NOT automatically effective."

"There has been widespread opposition to the law. . . . Some, who have been most vigorous in their zeal for the law, have shown themselves less tactful than ardent, so that the very methods pursued by them have needlessly embittered and intensified opposition. . . . There is assuredly demanded a campaign of education, systematic and intensive, devoted to persuasion rather than contention, but we do not condone any compromise with lawlessness."

Easy divorce and speedy remarriage was deplored as was also the recent flood of suggestions looking toward easier and more convenient methods of divorce, involving such prenuptial agreements as appear to anticipate the dissolution of the relationships that seems to be the thought in the so-called companionate and trial marriage.

Though it may be an honest effort to relieve the tragedy of unlawful relationship, it is an utterly mistaken policy which leads to the status by legal pronouncement, the transparent dress of alleged respectability, the bishops believed.

The denominational attitude of opposition to divorce except upon scriptural grounds was reaffirmed.

Concern was expressed for the "morals of the community as affected by the perverted and poisonous character of so many of the theaters and of so much of current literature, whether belonging to the class of the tabloid daily or the magazines in which, under the name of art, shameless vice insults every sense of decency."

"It is needful that devotion of fashion."

lon be subdued by concern for morals. We register the conviction that propriety demands in many things not only resistance of forward tendencies but the adoption of far less obtrusive customs than at present prevail."

Taking up war and peace the bishops said "It is manifest that for war no remedy has been found, because no substitute has been agreed upon. We register our conviction that a world court and a league of nations in some approved form have a real place in any practical program for world peace."

"Peace will never come so long as diplomacy concerns itself simply or chiefly with the great game of wit for national monetary advantage."

We are not far enough along to urge the discontinuance of our national military and naval schools, yet where we are in control, we should prevent and where we are not, we should discourage compulsory military training in school and college."

The bishops declared against profiteering and for the conscription of capital and labor in time of war.

The younger generation, "is more sinned against than sinning," the bishops said.

Touching on fundamentalism, the bishops asserted, "We steadfastly maintain our unshaken loyalty to the great

251 BADGERS BOAST ARMY COMMISSIONS

Washington — Wisconsin stands nineteenth among the states in the number of men it has serving as commissioned officers in the regular army, the War Department announced tonight. Wisconsin men to the number of 251 have commissions.

Michigan has 321 officers, and Minnesota ranks just below Wisconsin with 250.

The six states having the largest numbers of officers are New York, 996; Pennsylvania, 732; Illinois, 613; Ohio, 544; Massachusetts, 517, and Texas, 491. Nevada trails the list with 10 officers.

There are several interesting facts disclosed by the War Department report, among them that virtually every country in the world is represented among the commissioned officers of the United States Army.

Ninety officers were born in outlying territories of the United States as follows: Philippine Islands, 44; Porto Rico, 37; Hawaii, 7; Alaska, 1; and Guam, 1.

Officers born in foreign countries number 329. The British Empire heads this list with 153.

Germany has 36 officers in the army, Russia, 15; Mexico, 1; China, 4; Japan, 2; Turkey, 2; East Indies, 1; and Persia, 1.

CONTRACTORS GET REVISED PLANS FOR GOLF CLUB ADDITION

New Structure Will Be Built in Colonial Style, Directors Agree

Plans for the proposed $25,000 addition to Butte des Morts Golf club clubhouse were given to contractors Wednesday for bids which must be in the hands of the directors by Saturday. Directors of the golf club and of the Winnebago Land company will open the proposals.

Revised plans provide for a Colonial style structure instead of Italian style, according to Seymour Gmeiner, president of the golf club.

The dining room will occupy the east wing of the new addition so that diners will have advantage of the view from three sides, Mr. Gmeiner said.

The women's locker room was moved from this wing to the rooms originally intended for a dining room. The locker room will occupy slightly less space than the dining room would have, and the kitchen is being made a little larger.

Mr. Gmeiner explained that the style of the building was changed from Italian to Colonial because the directors believed a white building would look better from the course.

A large veranda, lounge room, registration room and additional lockers for men are other features of the new addition. Mr. Gmeiner said when the addition was completed the clubhouse would be one of the finest in the state and that there will be no need for any future additions.

Work on the addition is expected to start as soon as possible after the

BLAME LACK OF CARE FOR DISEASE SPREAD

Madison—(UP)—Improper care of mild cases of influenza, colds, acute catarrhal troubles, and other diseases that develop in the late winter and spring months is generally the reason for the increased number of pneumonia cases in the state over last year. This is a finding of the state board of health.

"The common cold, especially one involving the bronchial tubes, or influenza, is frequently the primary condition which lowers the resistance of the body sufficiently for pneumonia to take hold," an announcement from the health board said. "This is particularly true of the young and aged, although complicating pneumonias following colds and influenza often occur in the prime of life."

"A word of caution is therefore appropriate as to the necessity of the proper care of acute catarrhal troubles. Undue exposure of chilliness should not be countenanced at such a time, nor should a person with influenza be out of the house until well over the trouble. Rest in bed for a few days during the influenza symptoms is likely to prevent many of the complications."

CORBETT GIVES METHOD OF FINDING CITY WANTS

A total of 25 marriage licenses were issued in April by John F. Hantschel, county clerk. This is two more than were issued in April, 1927. A total of 89 marriage licenses were issued in the first four months of 1928 as compared to 53 in the first four months of 1927. Mr. Hantschel believes the big increase is due to Leap Year.

Sun-Sweetened!

ONLY ripe, hand-picked, sun-sweetened peaches, canned at the orchard, ever bear the Martha Washington label. This explains their unusually natural flavor, juiciness and firmness.

The almost universal taste for peaches suggests serving them in many delightful ways, on all sorts of occasions. The resourceful housewife always carries a supply on hand.

Arrange halves of Martha Washington Peaches, hollow sides up, on salad plates covered with lettuce or endive. Chop hearts of celery and salad almonds, moisten with mayonnaise and fill in cavity of peach. Cover, if desired, with another half peach, to resemble a whole peach, cover with mayonnaise and over this dot a rather soft cranberry jelly. Sprinkle with parsley.

—the RED Purifier that turns WHITE when Disorders lurk in your Mouth and Throat

Nothing Before Like this Scientific Solution

Semafor combats unpleasant Breath (Halitosis), Acidity, Mouth Infections (Sepsis), and Tooth Decay, by its Cleansing, Healing, Germicidal Action—and removes sticky Film.

It stays RED in healthy mouths and KEEPS them healthy—Keeps teeth sound and dazzling white—Keeps breath sweet—mouth clean and pleasant.

At the first sign of danger—Acidity, Decay, Sepsis, or Halitosis—Semafor warns you by turning WHITE.

Dentists and doctors urge its constant use—ask them about this scientific advancement. Cleans crowns and bridges where brush cannot reach.

The X-Ray exposes and pictures hidden dangers beneath the tissues.

Semafor—the new Indicator Antiseptic solution—exposes Breath Disorders, Acidity, Germs, and Infections (Sepsis) ON and IN the membrane, teeth and tissues.

How? By changing color—from RED to WHITE—when you gargle or rinse your throat and mouth with it.

But more than that—Semafor CORRECTS these disorders and wards them off.

When Semafor STAYS Red, it indicates a healthy mouth and throat. Such a priceless, wholesome condition should be constantly guarded and preserved by the daily use of Semafor.

Recommended by Doctors and Dentists

This scientific method of mouth hygiene—Semafor, the Indicator Antiseptic—was created by Dr. Alfred H. Kropff, B. S., M. A., Ph. D., a national authority on purifiers. Doctors and dentists now use it in their practice and prescribe it.

They will tell you it excels all other solutions which never show your condition.

As few rinses are required to restore its red color, Semafor marks your improvement. Its regular use is a necessary safeguard and corrective.

Visible Mouth Hygiene in the home is now a reality for the first time.

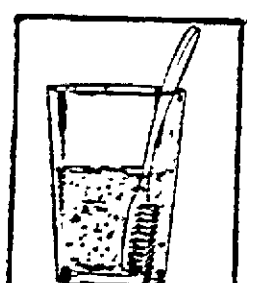

Semafor is a deadly foe of acid and the acid-forming germs of tooth decay. Yet delightful in

Semafor

Sleeping Hours are the Danger Hours of Acid Mouth

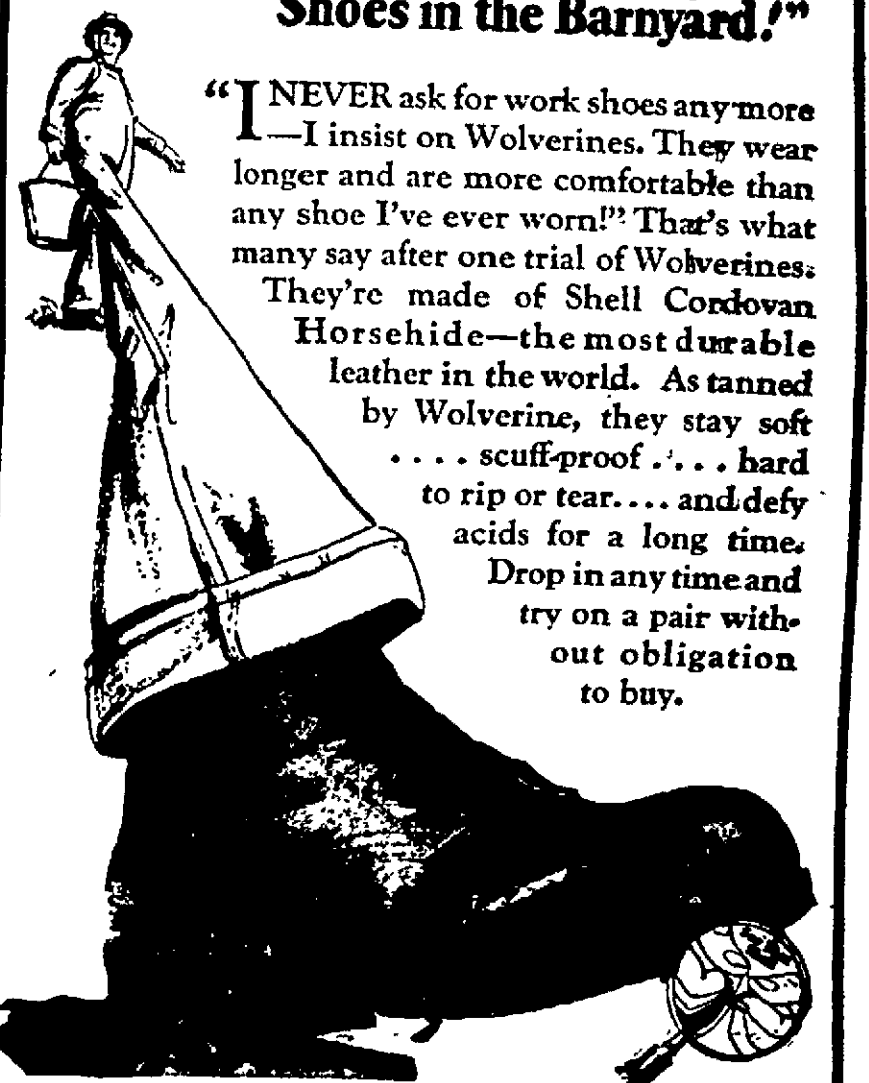

Saliva is normally alkaline—nature's way of combating mouth acids. But while you sleep there is nothing to activate the saliva—no chewing, no expenditure of nervous energy. Then acids do their harmful work on gums, teeth and tissues unopposed. Hence, AT BED-TIME, always rinse and gargle with Semafor. This destroys the acids in mouth and throat before you retire. This also removes food particles, so there's nothing to ferment in the night and attack your teeth. In the morning your breath is sweeter, mouth cleaner, and teeth much easier each day for food can no longer cling to them.

Off Comes FILM!

Brush teeth with Semafor, rinse your teeth brush in glass containing Semafor solution, and see film floating there. Semafor alone removes dental film so you can actually SEE it—removes stains and food particles, leaves teeth glistening in their pearl-like beauty. Fine for the gums, because it is antiseptic and stimulates healthy circulation, restoring the coral glow of beauty.

WISCONSIN SECOND IN GAS TAX REVENUE

Motorists. Paid $6,027,114
During Past Year, Roads
Bureau Announces

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington—Wisconsin motorists paid $6,027,114 gasoline tax during 1927, the Bureau of Public Roads today announced. Wisconsin is one of ten states having a two cent per gallon tax rate on gasoline and was the second state among the two cent states in the amount of tax collected at this rate, being exceeded by Missouri which collected $6,330,983.

California, with a three cent tax, collected $22,467,053, which was the largest amount collected by any state. Ohio was second with $19,310,481; Pennsylvania third with $17,296,333; and Texas fourth with $15,650,841. States collecting $10,000,000 and over were: Florida, $10,980,586; Indiana, $10,193,586; Michigan, $14,269,561. All states have gasoline tax except New York and Massachusetts.

States adjoining Wisconsin, Illinois with a 1/2 cent tax collected $6,199,509; Iowa, with a three cent tax, collected $7,248,214; Michigan, with a three cent tax, collected $14,269,561; and Minnesota with a two cent tax collected $5,174,830.

Taxation of gasoline in the 46 states having such laws in 1927 produced a total net revenue of $258,966,551. Of this, $182,095,502 was available for the construction and maintenance of state highways under the supervision of the state highway departments and $76,440,61 was apportioned to counties for local road purposes. All but 4 percent of the net receipts were allotted for road purposes, including the payment of interest and retirement charges on highway bonds. The yield of the tax constituted an important contribution to the total highway revenue.

The returns indicate an increase in gasoline consumption over 1926 in all but two states. Including estimates for the two states in which the tax was not imposed, it is indicated that 10,596,000,000 gallons of gasoline were used by motor vehicles during the year, an increase of 8.2 per cent over 1926. The average consumption per motor vehicle was 458 gallons.

GIDEONS CONVENT

Milwaukee Man, International President, There for Three Day Session

Stevens Point—(P)—Preparations are complete in churches here for the state convention of the order of Gideons. The group of Christian Commercial Association Members will meet here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Generally a national officer of the order is imported from outside the state for the meetings, but this year's convention is to be attended by the International president, Sam Fulton, Milwaukee.

Among the other officers to be here are Walter P. Holmes, Madison, state president, H. C. Henderson, president of the Madison section of the state organization; state vice president John Frances, Milwaukee; "Buster" Brown, Milwaukee, treasurer and L. A. Millar, Marshfield, state secretary.

A mass meeting of all delegates is

MAY FACE QUIZ

Charging that a "military oligarchy" is being built up in the Panama Canal Zone, F. planned for Friday night, this, like all of the following meetings, being generally of a religious nature. At the mass meeting the work of the organization in placements of Bibles in hotels and general Christian work among traveling men will be discussed informally. The organization executive committee meet Saturday morning and during the afternoon the state business meeting will be held. Saturday evening an annual banquet will be served and a camp fire meeting will follow.

Sunday morning will open for the Gideons with a sunrise prayer meeting, after which convention attendants will occupy the pulpits in eight churches here, telling the congregations of the Gideon work and asking cooperation in it.

A few less than a hundred are expected to attend the convention.

CONGRESSMAN RAPS POWER GIVEN JUDGES

Browne Sponsoring Bill Calling for Jury Trial in Contempt of Court Cases

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington—The Senate Judiciary Committee is expected to incorporate in an injunction bill it is drafting the proposal of Congressman Browne of Wisconsin requiring trial by jury in cases of contempt of court where the offense is not actually committed in the court room.

The object of Browne's amendment is to do away with what he regards as a dangerous power now held by judges. He pointed out that under the present system a judge in California, for instance, could cite the editor of a paper in New York for contempt of court because the paper in question had criticized a decision he had rendered. Then, he could require the editor to journey all the way to California and face trial before the same judge without any right to a jury.

"Not even in the old days in England did a judge have any such power as this," said the Wisconsin Congressman, "and something should be done to put a stop to it in this country."

"I realize that the dignity of the courts should and must be upheld and would never consider supporting any legislation which would intend to injure it in any way. What I am trying to do is to get a square deal for the defendants in contempt cases. Under the present system, it has been held that a man convicted of contempt of court cannot be pardoned, yet the worst red-handed murderer can. The deplorable part of it is that he can be tried, convicted and sentenced without a jury."

Judges can have jury trials of such cases, Browne pointed out, calling attention to the fact that Federal Judge Geiger of Milwaukee had impeached a jury in the recent contempt proceeding.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calomel powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.

WANT INFORMATION ON PAY TOURISTS CAMPS

With the approach of the tourist season, Mike Steinhauer, chairman of the city council public building committee, has asked Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce for information on how other cities are conducting pay tourists camps.

The local camp heretofore has been operated free of charge to the visitors but this year a small charge will be made each party stopping over night or longer.

Data shows that practically all cities of 10,000 population or over are now making a small charge for the use of their camps.

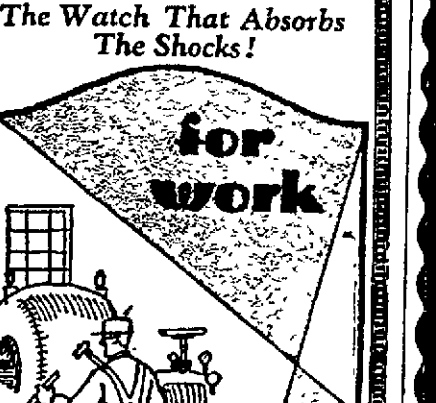

Everyone loses a small amount of weight during the hours of sleep. Traveling at the rate of two miles a minute it would take an airplane nearly 35 years to reach Mars.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dearest Maye:
I'm glad to hear from you about coming to help Betty out. She knew I had written you about it and I didn't know what to tell her when she asked me what you said. I didn't like to write you about it again because I don't want to urge you to do things. It won't be any satisfaction to you to do a good deed at another's prompting. It never is to anyone. I'm sure that having decided by yourself to come you will be glad of it even if it does interfere with your plans because you can't possibly have any plans that are more important than doing a kindness to one who is in need of it.

Besides, I think it will be good for you to get back to a simple life for a change. Somehow I don't like you going to a studio party without Alan and doing an outlandish dance among a lot of strangers.

Frank had a few of his friends in the other evening and one of the girls was twisting and shaking herself in an awful fashion. I thought she had stomach trouble. Frank told me it was that dance you said you did—the Black Bottom. Such a name. If you contorted yourself like this girl did I wouldn't be surprised if you'd be complaining of a fractured spine shortly.

I can believe you attracted attention all right. But why you should desire attention that you get in that manner is a puzzle to me. I noticed that the boys were very much interested in this girl's dancing, too.

It does worry me to think of you going back to that studio to pose. Please do be careful how you conduct yourself, Maye. Perhaps if you assume a little dignity you may undergo the impression you must have created in the man's mind about you. It just can't be possible for him not to wonder if you care very much about your husband, going places without him and abandoning yourself to the vulgar gestures of a heathenish exhibition.

You know, my dear, that even though times have changed, people still judge each other by behavior. And I'm sure that not everyone in the city is ultra-modern. If you must in-

BOOK FOR KIDDIES
DESCRIBES CITY

BY MARY GRAHAM BRONNER
Author of "The Magic Map," etc.
HILDEGARD LUPPARIAN, who builds around her own lovely illustrations simple stories for very young children, recently has produced a large, slim, decorative book called "Lullaby Land" (McLoughlin Bros.). The story is printed in very large type and it abounds in colorful and imaginative pictures that are a delight to the eye of the youngster who is ready for sleep-time entertainment.

The adult will enjoy reading this book to the small child and looking at the pictures. "From each bough hung a tiny cradle," is the caption for one of the pictures and it will do more toward encouraging the very little ones to "call it a day" than protestations of having "already sat up quite late enough for a little girl or boy."

For the girl or boy who either lives in New York or who is going to be taken on a trip to New York, Grace Humphrey has written "Father Takes Us to New York" (Penn.). It is the story of two children who are given a trip to this city and it describes accurately and entertainingly what they did with their time.

The author has realized all the small happenings upon such a journey that are essential to the participants, even to such thrills as being brushed off by a porter.

At the end of the book, one about Boston is promised. Also by the same author and publishers is "The Story of the Catherines." Here are the stories of the famous Catherines in history, such as Catherine Breshkovsky, Catherine de Medici, Catherine the Great and so forth. And some who spelled their names differently are admitted, such as Kate Greenaway—a chapter of particular interest to those young readers who are familiar with her lovely illustrations.

SATIN ENSEMBLE

Mary Ann Broadhead, of East Orange, N. J., chose a rather purple blue for her satin ensemble of long coat, pleated coat and mounded jumper. The coat's lining and the frock's touches carried a contrasting light blue. Her hat showed how straw can be the perfect trimming on darker felt.

COPS MUST BE HUMAN TO AID
IN PROBLEMS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
SOME people who drive cars are ruthless and lawless, but the majority are anxious to make the world safe for themselves and others.

There are two kinds of traffic laws, one for the country and one for the city. Road police are not able to check up absolutely and completely on country driving. That would be impossible.

But as a matter of fact the majority of people who drive cars in the country are law-abiding. They do the square thing about nine times out of ten. It is this quality in human nature that makes the automobile a possibility.

If the percentage of good road drivers is so high, it is sensible to believe that the same rate pertains to cities. Most people are more than anxious to obey traffic rules. If they break them, it is usually because of misunderstanding, ignorance, or confusion. Often the traffic rules of a city change over night, while Mr. Average Citizen is asleep.

If he goes against traffic on a one-way street, he seldom does it deliberately. If he turns to the left where no turn is allowed, it may be because he has been allowed to do so before, or because he is ignorant of the change of rule.

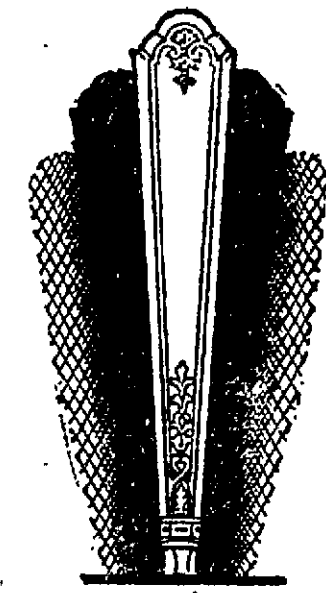

Yesterday perhaps he was allowed to park for an hour in a certain block. Today he does it and gets a tag.

Why is it that traffic policemen in cities are so often man-eaters? Why do they treat a driver as though he were a kidnaper? Of course there are exceptions, cases where drivers should be locked up for life, but if a man makes a mistake there is no reason for the "copy" to jump down his throat.

I have one city in mind where the traffic policemen are kind and courteous almost to a man. This city has the reputation of having less traffic trouble than any other city of its size in the country.

No one expects a busy traffic cop to kiss him. All he wants is a little decency and understanding, and at times a little help.

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, meat balls with tomato sauce, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of asparagus soup, croquettes, peanut butter and fruit sandwiches, lettuce, chocolate pudding, milk, coffee.

DINNER—Pot roast of beef with brown gravy, baked new carrots, tomato jelly salad, rhubarb topleca pudding, milk, coffee.

It's only by constant planning and watching that good meals can be served three times a day and seven days a week. Every housewife knows her family's appetite and she should plan to have enough but not too much. Unless left-overs are cleverly used they mean waste, money spent with no value received. Nice calculation makes it possible to provide variety at no greater cost than to serve the same things day after day.

PEANUT BUTTER AND FRUIT SANDWICHES

One-half cup peanut butter, 4 tablespoons stoned and chopped prunes, 4 tablespoons stoned and chopped prunes, 2 tablespoons cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, lemon juice.

Wash dates well before stoning and chopping. Let prunes simmer in boiling water for twenty minutes after thorough washing. Core and remove stones and chop. Work peanut butter to a smooth paste with cream. Add chopped fruit, salt and enough lemon juice to make the consistency to spread. Put between slices of buttered whole wheat bread.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE garden was a busy sight, "cause every little Tynymite was helping Mister Gardener, and this made the old man glad. Said he, "I've found some bugs, at last, who turn right in and work real fast."

Fashion Plaques

A SMALL GREEN FELT hat with turned down brim has strips of log-bark encircling the crown.

I let the garden go so long. 'twas looking rather bad.

"But, now, with all of you at work, I'm sure, if no one starts to shirk, that we will bring the flowers all up as pretty as can be. I have a large debt to repay. I'll give you all a big bouquet, to show you that I'm mighty pleased that you are helping me."

"We're glad to help; it's really fun, and I am sure we'll soon be done," said Scouty, as he took his rake and scraped it 'cross the ground. "I'd work for hours, and hours, and hours to help bring up some pretty flowers. I've heard it helps them grow when all the dirt is worked around."

"Oh, see the progress I have made," cried Clowdy with his little spade. "I shoveled 'round a daisy and it seemed 'o smile at me." "Ho, ho," laughed Cappy, "that sounds queer. Now, tell me, did you ever hear of any flower smiling? You're as silly as can be."

Just then the gardener with a smile, said, "I must leave you for a while. Keep on working. I'll be back within an hour or so." "Please hurry," he heard Cappy cry. And then the Tynymites waved good-bye. When he was out of sight, a very weak voice said, "What ho?"

Some flowers jumped up from the ground, and very soon, the Tynymites found that heaps of flowers had come to life. One cried, "We're full of cheer. The gardener's gone, so we can play with all you Tynymites. Hurry! Let's hurry now, and have some fun, before he comes back here."

(The Tynymites meet the butterflies in the next story.)

Before He Can SERVE YOU

Before a druggist can perform the highest duties in his chosen field of work, he must spend years in the college classroom and in drug store practice. Then at last the Government attests his fitness to serve you.

It is all too common to think of the druggist as simply a merchant who keeps one of the stores of the community.

It is true that he has many goods on his shelves that do not require his special training, but when it comes to prescriptions his responsibility is at stake. He must be careful and he must know how to compound medicines.

We hope the people can put their trust in us and bring their prescriptions here to be filled.

The shorter pieces in the final group were artistic gems and brought forth rounds of applause. Miss Lanouille was recalled to the stage many times to acknowledge the applause. Mrs. Fuellwider supplied accompaniments which were artistic gems and a large part to the success of the evening.

Miss Lanouille is a student of Percy Fuellwider.

Franklin LaFevre, baritone sang a group of songs which were greatly enjoyed by the audience.

NEW LONDON COUNCIL ASKED TO PAVE PART OF ROAD TO LIBERTY

Short Section Is Almost Impassable in Flood Time, Aldermen Told

New London—A request to the mayor and council to have their regular meeting on Tuesday night was made by John Sewall, chairman of the town of Liberty, representing citizens of Liberty, who wish the city to pave the stretch of road between North Water-st and the Chicago and Northwestern tracks.

Mr. Sewall said that for a long time the road had been impassable in flood time, which is almost impossible and that while the people of the township knew that the city would be unable to make any change in the road during the present year, because of finances, he felt that provision might be made so it could be possible in 1929.

The Liberty road is one of the finest gravel roads in Outagamie county but the mill road, entirely filled land, is a sink hole in flood season. In case that the pavement became a certainty, a detour could easily be marked out, Mr. Sewall pointed out, but the use of a cross road connecting with Highway 54, which enters the city at St. John's place.

Other matters brought up at the council meeting were the bids for a half ton truck for use by the electric and power department. The board of public works was authorized to purchase a new horse to be used by the street commissioner's department.

A meeting of the mayor and the board of public works was set for Wednesday night at which plans for the street improvement program for the coming summer are to be mapped out.

STAGE And SCREEN

SCREEN VERSION OF VAUDEVILLE-GIVES DOROTHY MACKAIL, JACK MULHALL CHANCE

Do you ever wonder what is going on in the wings and backstage when you attend a legitimate theatre? You'll find out, at least to a certain extent, in "Lady Be Good," First National's latest comedy featuring Dorothy Mackail and Jack Mulhall, which is the feature attraction at the Elite Theatre 3 days starting tomorrow.

"Lady Be Good" is a story of vaudeville performers, with most of it occurring in the dressing rooms and backstage. Arguments, quarrels, disagreements, all sorts of things, may be happening just a few feet from the stage. But when the entrance call comes, sentences are halted, arguments are temporarily abandoned, fixed smiles appear like magic, and the battles go on capering out to do their thing.

"Lady Be Good," as a musical comedy, had a long run in virtually every large city in America, and its success promises to be duplicated on the screen.

Within the last few years musical comedies have been the inspiration for many successful pictures, mainly of the farcical type.

First National produced "Irene" and "Sally," both with Colleen Moore in the starring role, and Miss Moore is scheduled to start in "Oh Kay" in the near future.

"Lady Be Good" was directed by Richard Wallace.

The supporting cast includes John Miljan, Dot Farley, Nita Martin, Yola d'Avril, Eddie Clayton, Jay Eaton and others.

"WICKEDNESS PREFERRED"

Three pictures in which they've co-starred and they're still speaking to each other.

That is the record held by Lew Cody and Aileen Pringle who have just begun on the third of a series of co-starring vehicles for Metro-Goldwyn Mayer. The first was "Adam and Evil," the second "Tox for Three" and the third is called "Wickedness Preferred," at Fischers Appleton theatre Thursday and Friday.

"I think the reason we're still such good friends even after having co-starred for this length of time is that we get all our quarrelling off our chest before the camera," says Lew Cody.

"In every picture we've played the roles of married couples who don't exactly get along together, so when ever Aileen has anything nasty to say to me she takes it out in a subtitle. And maybe that's why her acting is so good."

"Anyhow, the fact remains that we're still good friends behind the camera."

Aileen Pringle declares that there's no reason why co-stars shouldn't get along. "You see, I tell Lew that he's the best actor on the screen and he tells me that I'm the greatest actress and as neither one of us believe the other there's no chance for an argument."

Holart Henley is directing "Wickedness Preferred," an original story by Florence Ryerson, and Colin Clement.

Arthur Koepke of Milwaukee returned home Wednesday after spending several days in Appleton.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

There is one simple point in the play of the Declarer at Auction and Contract Bridge which, while easy to remember, frequently is overlooked. When he is leading a suit, which contains the three top honors, two of which are in one of his hands and one in the other, he should win the first trick with one of the honors of the hand which holds two. There are three sound reasons for this:

1. It keeps entry cards in both hands as long as possible.
2. It postpones a possible finesse without having the time gained cost anything.
3. It may uncover a sure finesse against the adverse Jack.

Suppose Declarer should wish to lead a suit composed of:

A-10-6-2
NORTH
K-9-7-3
SOUTH

If leading from the Closed Hand, he should lead the King or Queen; if leading from Dummy, he should lead low. If West hold the remaining four cards of the suit (i. e., J-8-5-4), either of the above leads would capture the Jack and win every trick in the suit; but to lead small from the King-Queen hand, or Ace from the other hand would present a trick to the adversaries by making the adverse Jack a sure winner.

Even when Declarer holds nine of the suit and the adverse division is not the unusual 4-0 (so that the Jack can be caught without finessing), it is a good policy to "keep both hands mobile" that is, keep entries in both hands. In playing a hand in which Dummy and Closed Hand so as to be able to place the lead on which ever side of the table it may be advantageous to do so. In playing any type of suit, the declarer should remember that it is most important to secure this double mobility whenever possible. Many a game has been lost to Declarers who carelessly place all their eggs in one basket by failing to provide the means of placing the lead in Closed Hand or Dummy at will.

The importance of lead-placing far out ranks the difficulty of understanding and applying it. A little practice in visualizing and a cultivation of the habit of sizing up his two hands before playing even one card from Dummy, will gain many extra tricks for the amateur Declarer; and these extra tricks are what secure contracts, games and slams which are missed when good cards get "sawed up" or vital finesses are made unavailable because of inability to lead toward tenaces.

MOST DEATHS CAUSED BY AUTO ACCIDENTS

State Board of Health Reports Decrease in State's Death Rate

Madison—(P)—The state board of health finds a decrease in the state's death rate. For the first quarter of 1928 the rate was lower than for any similar period in the past five years, according to figures announced today.

The state reported 7,515 deaths in the three months, which is equivalent to an annual death rate of 10.4 per thousand of population.

L. W. Hutchcroft, statistician for the health department has found that the communicable disease mortality shows a considerable decline compared with 1927, except in pneumonia deaths.

"If the present rate continues through the year, Wisconsin promises to establish a new low death rate for diphtheria, measles and whooping cough," he said.

There was a decline of 135 deaths among children under one year, and of four deaths among children one to four years old.

Automobile accidents were the cause of most of the unnatural deaths during the three months. There were 111 automobile accident deaths. Others under the classification were: accidental falls, 36, suicide, 31, accidental burns and scalds, 25, railroad accidents, 21, accidental drowning, 11, carbon monoxide poisoning, 12, machinery, 6, falling tree, 3, accidental suffocation, 11, conflagrations, 8, homicide, 8, injury by animals, 6, coal gas poisoning, 10, illuminating gas poisoning, 7, accidental freezing, 6, street car accidents, 6, accidental gunshot wounds, 5, horse vehicles and horses, 3, dynamite explosions, 2, motorcycle accidents, 2, mining accidents, 1, elevator accident, 1.

Eleven deaths due to sleeping sickness were reported. They were scattered in Brown, Clark, Langlade, Milwaukee, Sawyer, Shawano and Winnebago counties. Brown and Dane counties each reported one death from influenza.

GOVERNOR RITCHIE EXPECTED TO SHARE IN DEMOCRAT VOTE

Maryland Executive Is a
"Wet" Advocate and Has Record as Vote Getter

EDITOR'S NOTE: This, the 20th of a series of Presidential Campaign Portraits written for the Post-Crescent by Robert Talley, tells the story of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Maryland. Tomorrow's article will discuss Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas.

BY ROBERT TALLEY
Washington — Fifty-one years old, tall, good looking and a bachelor, Albert C. Ritchie, three times governor of Maryland, is a receptive although not an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Gov. Ritchie, an Episcopalian, is a close friend and loyal supporter of Al Smith. As long as the New Yorker is in the race Ritchie intends to fight for him. But if the history of Madison Square Garden is repeated at Houston, and another deadlock makes Smith's nomination impossible, Gov. Ritchie may be tacked out as the second choice of the Smith forces as was Oscar Underwood in 1924.

Refreshingly frank, Ritchie admits that the mention of his name in connection with the presidency is pleasing to him. Equally candid, he admits that he entered politics when a young lawyer because a judicious amount of politics helped his law business.

Ritchie is a "wet," a strong advocate of state rights and perhaps the greatest vote-getter in the history of Maryland.

He is the only man who has ever served more than one term as governor. In the long history of that state he was first elected governor in 1919 by a bare majority of 165 votes, re-elected in 1923 by a majority of 41,000 and re-elected again in 1927 by a majority of 61,000.

He entered politics as a deputy city solicitor at Baltimore, then became people's counsel for the Maryland Public Service Commission, was next attorney general of the state and finally, became governor.

Gov. Ritchie views prohibition enforcement as a failure, with the explanation that the mass of the people do not want prohibition and assist the federal dry law as an invasion of state rights. He thinks every state should be permitted to decide the question for itself.

"Maryland is one of the four states that have no state prohibition law and it offers no aid to federal authorities in their effort to enforce prohibition," he says, "and have lost nearly four billions in revenues while the effort was being made — and our last state is worse than our first was."

Gov. Ritchie is best known for his anti-prohibition view, but this is only one item in his general "wet" policy program. It has attracted the most attention merely because it is the most colorful item.

Broadly, Ritchie believes that the nation is suffering from too much centralized government from Washington; says a multiplying number of federal bureaus, federal commissions and federal laws are gradually extending their power over a people who want really local government, and not government dictated by somebody who is perhaps 3,000 miles away.

Gov. Ritchie is on record as having said: "The Democratic party has always stood for the rights of the states, because it believes that through local self-government we can best attain efficient government and best preserve individual liberties. . . . This reliance upon and acquiescence in federal power is being overdone to such extent that imperils not only the future of the states, but the Union itself as well."

"Our government has become the most regulatory in the world, except Russia and Italy. Inspectors and spies and official regulators follow the 100 per cent American from the day he draws his first nourishment from his mother's inspected breast."

"This great problem (prohibition) cannot be settled by trying to standardize human conduct. A yardstick cannot be applied to it throughout the country. The communities which resist this law cannot be clubbed into taking it."

"He (the citizen) is told what he may eat, what he may smoke and everything that he may not drink. What he may read or write or see on the stage is prescribed, too, and not content with this the government advises him how to hang curtains in his home, what meat to cook for his dinner and in the year 1927, under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture, there was distributed throughout the country a treatise entitled "A Pocket Essay on Kissing."

Maryland's Democratic and equally Democratic governor—a favorite alike with the farmers, the oystermen and the city folks—is such despite the fact that he comes from the upper crust of Maryland aristocracy. The Ritchie family line in Maryland runs back for nearly two centuries.

The son of a Baltimore judge, young Ritchie grew up in a circle of quality and means. He took his A. B. degree at Johns Hopkins in 1896 and later studied law at the University of Maryland, from which he graduated into politics by making soap-box speeches at ward rallies.

He does not play golf, he reveres his aged mother, who is his closest companion, he has never driven an auto because he prefers not to and has no hobby but work. The latter has brought about almost a complete reorganization of the state government during his three terms and doubtless explains much of the vote-getting popularity that has been his.

TOMORROW: Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas.

FIRE FIGHTING APPARATUS STANDARDIZED FOR 5 YEARS

Appleton hydrant and hose system for fighting fires has been standardized for the past five years, according to Fire Chief George P. McGillan. This city was one of the first in the Fox river valley to adopt the standardized system and since then Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks, Menasha and Kaukauna, have followed the example.

Firemen at Green Bay are conforming their system to other valley cities. Neenah, which has not yet adopted the standardized system, is planning to do so in the near future, according to Chief McGillan.

The standardized system makes it possible for fire fighting equipment from other cities to be hooked up the city system in case of emergency.

FACTS ABOUT WISCONSIN

Two recent occurrences have caused a great change in Wisconsin's milk market. One was Dr. Danderson's order requiring that all milk used in Chicago come from herds free from tuberculosis. This order shut out many untested Illinois herds and opened the Chicago market to tested herds in Wisconsin. The other occurrence was the development and greater utilization of the tank car for shipping milk, enabling Chicago distributors to draw milk from far distant points in Wisconsin. Today seventy-six centers in this state, are shipping milk to the Chicago market in tank cars. Cars of Badger State milk are now being sent to Florida. During the flood in Vermont and New Hampshire, tank cars carried milk from Wisconsin shipping points to the flooded areas whose source of milk supply was disturbed. Though no place in the world is better fitted for dairying than Wisconsin, our position of supremacy has been close pressed by New York. New York does not compare to Wisconsin as a dairy state, and can only with difficulty produce feed for its dairy cattle, but New York has a great industrial population and its prices for milk are much higher than ours. Wisconsin's milk market has always been in manufactured dairy products sold on the world's markets and subject to world price conditions. New York and its immediate neighbor states until recently had an exclusive outlet, due to cost of distribution and the difficulty of keeping milk fresh in transit, to the greatest industrial milk market in the world. In 1925 between 60 and 90 per cent of New York's milk production sold in this industrial market as raw milk. In 1925 less than 10 per cent of Wisconsin's milk production sold as raw milk, the remainder being sold for manufacture into butter, cheese and condensed milk. Today the industrial markets of Racine, Kenosha and Milwaukee, where milk goes direct from the farmer to the distributor, are reaching out in ever widening circles and making heavy inroads into the milk supply of plants that manufacture dairy products. With the overflow of Chicago's industries moving up the shore of Lake Michigan toward Wisconsin, and with the encroachment of this industrial population into Wisconsin counties which have been feeders for Chicago in an agricultural way, the price of land will attain so high a level that it can no longer be used for milk production. Milk production for this expanding industrial market will eventually fall to the lot of remote counties using tank car transportation, and it is quite possible that Wisconsin will lose its premier position as a producer of dairy products to become a state which sells its milk in the more profitable raw milk markets of the industrial centers.

GIRL ALONE

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SALLY FORD, 16, with a genius for acting, is selfishly kept at the orphanage, which has been her home since she was four, in spite of efforts to adopt her, because her sympathy and understanding with small children make her a valuable helper to the matron. However, when CLEM CARSON asks that Sally be "farmed out" to him for the summer, the matron tells the girl she must go. Sally dislikes the farm, but long years of obedience to authority seal her lips against protesting when the matron says she must go and she leaves to pack her few clothes for the trip. Sally encounters little MISS POND, continental, sympathetic office helper. When Sally begs her to tell something of her mother, Miss Pond promises to come to the locker room and tell her what she knows.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III
Because she was leaving the orphanage for a temporary new home on the Carson farm, Sally was permitted to take her regular Saturday night bath that afternoon. In spite of her terror of the future, the girl who had never known any home but a state orphan asylum felt a thrill of adventure as she splashed in a painted tub of grayish-white Turkish toweling. Sally surveyed her slim, white body with shy pride. Shorn of the orphanage uniform she might have been any pretty young girl budding into womanhood, so slim and rounded and pinky-white she was.

"I guess I'm kinda pretty," Sally whispered to herself, as she thrust her face close to the small, watery mirror that could not quite succeed in destroying her virginal loveliness. "Sweet sixteen and—never been kissed," she smiled to herself, then bent forward and gravely laid her pink, delicately curved lips against the mirrored ones.

Then, in a panic lest she be too late to see kind Miss Pond, she jerked on the rest of her clothing.
"Dear Sally, how sweet you look!" Miss Pond clasped her hands in admiration as Sally slipped breathlessly into the locker-room that contained the clothes of all the girls of her dormitory.

"Did you bring the card that tells all about me—and my mother?" Sally brushed the compliment aside and demanded in an eager whisper.

"No dearie, I was afraid Mrs. Stone might want it to make an entry about Carson's taking you for the summer, but I copied the data. You go ahead with your packing while I tell you what I found out," Miss Pond answered nervously, but her pale gray eyes were sparkling with pleasure in her mild escapade.

Sally unlocked her own particular locker with the key that always hung on a string about her neck, but almost immediately she whirled upon Miss Pond, her pale gray eyes were sparkling with pleasure in her mild escapade.

"Well, Sally, I'm afraid there isn't much to tell," Miss Pond smoothed a folded bit of paper apologetically.

"The record says you were brought here Aug. 9, 1912, just 15 years ago, by a woman who said you were her daughter. She gave your birthday as June 2, 1908, and her name as Mrs. Nora Ford, a widow, aged 28."

"Oh, she's young!" Sally breathed ecstatically. Then her face clouded, as her nimble brain did a quick sum in mental arithmetic. "But she'd be 40 now, wouldn't she? Forty seems awfully old—"

"Forty is comparatively young, Sally!" Miss Pond, who was looking regretfully back upon 40 herself, said rather faintly. "Try let me hurry on. She gave poverty and illness as her reasons for asking the state to take care of you. She said your father was dead."

"Oh, poor mother!" A sharrow flickered across Sally's delicate face, quick tears for the dead father and the ill, poverty-stricken mother flamed her blue eyes.

"The state accepted you provisionally," and shortly afterward sent an investigator to check up on her story. Miss Pond went on. "The investigator found that the woman, Mrs. Ford, had left the city—it was Stanton, 30 miles from here—and that no one knew where she had gone. From that day to this we have had no word from the woman who brought you here. She was a mystery in Stanton, and has remained a mystery until now. I'm sorry, Sally, that I can't tell you more."

"Oh!" Sally's sharp cry was charged with such pain and disappointment that Miss Pond took one of the little clenched fists between her own thin hands, not noticing that the slip of paper fluttered to the floor. "She didn't write to know how I was, didn't care whether I lived or died! I wish I hadn't asked! I thought maybe there was somebody, someone who loved me—"

"Remember she was sick and poor, Sally. Maybe she went to a hospital suddenly—and died. But there was no report in any papers of the state of her death." Miss Pond added conscientiously. "You mustn't grieve, Sally. You're nearly grown now. You'll be leaving us when you're 18."

ed and ran, fleetly, her little figure as graceful as a fawn's, over the thick velvet carpet of the lawn. When she reached the high fence that separated her from the other orphans, she spread her arms, as if she would like to take them all into her embrace.

"Don't forget me, kids!" she panted, her voice thick with tears. "I—I want to tell you I love you all, and I'm sorry for every mean thing I ever did to any of you, and I hope you all get adopted by rich papas and mammas and have ice cream every day! Good-by, kids! Good-by!"

"Kiss me good-by, Sally!" a little whining voice pleaded.

Sally stooped and pressed her lips, through the fence opening, against the babyish mouth of little Eloise Durant, the newest and most forlorn orphan of them all.

"Me, too, Sally! Me, too! We won't have anybody to play-act for us now!" Betsy wailed, pressing her tear-stained face against the wire.

A little later, when Sally was seated primly beside Clem Carson, jolting rapidly down the road that led past the orphanage toward the business-district of the city, the farmer nudged her in the ribs and chuckled:

"You're quite a kissing-bug, ain't you, Sally? How about a little kiss for your new boss?"

Life brightens a bit in the next chapter, for Sally meets David.

NEW YORK TEAMS OCCUPY LEAGUE TOPS AS SCENE CHANGES

Intersectional Tilts In Both Major Circuits Will Feature Next Week's Play

Former Brewer Fans in Pinch and Giants Add Another Win Over Robins

The shift of the scenes for the first intersectional series of 1928 in the major leagues finds John Joseph McGraw and Miller J. Huggins occupying the position to which they have become accustomed—the top berths in the standing of the clubs. McGraw, it is true, has had to vacate this home many times in the last few years, but he believes he can defend his present lease against immediate attempts to oust him.

Larry Benton set the Brooklyn Robins down without a struggle Wednesday and the home run blows of Freddy Lindstrom and Art Jahn loomed large. In the ninth with the score standing at 2 to 0, the Robins set about stirring up real trouble. Tyson and Hendrick singled and Benton walked Bressler and Blonnette, forcing one run home and leaving the bases filled with two out.

Joe Dawson the Louisville recruit, cornered most of the glory as the Pirates nosed out the Cubs, 9 to 8, in the tenth inning at the expense of Artie Nehf. Joe did nothing much but hold the Cubs to two small hits through the last four rounds and smacked a triple which decided the game in the tenth.

Cincinnati made it two straight over the Cardinals, while the Phillies got even with the Braves for certain past misdeeds. The Phils finally won one, 9 to 2.

The Yankees were pounded, 9 to 5, in the American League, but they were about due. A New York winning streak of seven and a Washington losing surge of eight disappeared at one and the same time.

The Cleveland Indians failed to profit by the Yankee shortcomings, as the "fifty-fifty" Browns took their turn at winning. Owen Carroll turned in a game against the White Sox. The Tigers won easily up by 7 to 1.

NEW COLLEGIATE SPORT GROUP HOLDS MEETING

Officials for all athletic contests of the newly-organized Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Association, will be secured by the commissioner of the association, rather than by the schools of the group, it was decided by a meeting of the organization last week at Neenah. The meeting was called on the spur of the moment and it was attended by the presidents of the four colleges, Lawrence, Ripon, Beloit and Carroll, all of the coaches and Morris Armstrong of Carroll and Commissioner S. F. Shattuck, Neenah. The commissioner will choose his officials from a list suggested by the schools. Plans for the first annual track and field meet of the new conference, which will be held at Whitling field under the auspices of Lawrence on May 12 were made. The meet is the first official athletic contest of the new conference. It was announced. Each year it will be "passed around" among the schools, so that it will not be held here again until 1932.

Meadeville, Pa. — Larry Brignolia, Erie, Pa., knocked out Toughy Mayne, Columbus, O., (3).

Sharkey's Victory Over Jack Delaney Means Little

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

Regardless of the less than one-round knockout of Jack Delaney by Jack Sharkey, the heavyweight situation as it confronts Messrs. Rickard, Tunney and Heeney isn't seriously changed. The situation for the three engaged in the making of the next heavyweight championship fight could not be much worse than it was before Sharkey had one of the good moments that come to him annually and crooked a fighter who had been a contender for a mythical greatness by a sentimental and hero-manufacturing New York press.

Sharkey always looks like a million dollars when he is winning and like a lead nickel when he is losing and, unfortunately for him, his public appearances have been more frequently in the guise of the lead nickel. This quick and artistic victory over Delaney means nothing at the present moment, and probably will mean less as time passes. Sharkey is no better than he was when he made off himself in a floundering mess with Johnny Risko and Tom Heeney. He got in the first punch against a front-running Delaney who, beyond a doubt, has been for years the most camouflaged fighter in the business.

We are not taking a rap at Delaney as a second guess because we have been on record since the Delaney beat Delaney fight started that we thought he was no great fighter. He always has been the most overestimated fighter of the day. He was a champion against a big slow bum, but he wasn't even clever with a clever man of his own weight, as proved when he fled from the light heavyweight championship in mortal fear of Tommy Loughran.

Sharkey's greatest fault is one that he can't overcome at this stage of his career. HE CAN'T CARRY WEIGHT. This is a term borrowed from the track to convey the meaning that he isn't strong enough for great responsibility and that he can't deliver when the issue is vital.

He HAS courage. He can fight like a fool and he is afraid of no man, but he is a great fighter only when there is nothing big at stake.

RALPH AYRAUD STANDS OUT AS COMING JOCKEY

New York—One of the most promising young jockeys around is Ralph Ayraud, a 20-year-old who two years ago was doing his stuff around Omaha and the western tracks. Ayraud, while he is not getting as many mounts as he would like, has convinced horsemen that he can handle his mounts and is certain to be thought of as a highly promising youngster and rides at 100 pounds.

He rode at Tijuana last winter and stood third on the list of jockeys with 62 winners. He is a wide-awake youngster and rides at 100 pounds.

San Francisco — Johnny Preston, Honolulu, knocked out Billy Moon, Chicago, (2).

BRIEF CONTINUES TO LEAD BREWERS

Ancient, Creaking Bunny Has Perfect Day in Win Over Hens

Chicago—(P)—Bunny Brief, who has spent most of his 18 years of baseball in the American Association, is still breaking up ball games.

Starting his third season for Milwaukee at first base, Bunny has been an outstanding factor in the Brewers' drive for the 1928 pennant, driving out five home runs and hitting safely almost every time victory depended upon his manipulation of the willow.

Wednesday, the 36-year-old veteran led Milwaukee to its second straight victory over Toledo, 7 to 1, with a triple, double, single and two walks for a perfect day.

Kansas City, clung to its first place lead, with St. Paul second and Indianapolis third.

The Blues defeated Columbus, 5 to 1, for the third straight time, while St. Paul downed Indianapolis, 6 to 2, also for the third time in as many days.

Huck Betts held the Indians to six hits and hung up his fourth consecutive victory.

Harris hit two home runs to share the home run lead in the American Association with Brief as Minneapolis won its third straight game over Louisville, 7 to 3. Harris and Brief have hit five homers apiece. Duncan, with five sensational catches, and Bohne, with three stolen bases, shared the heroes' limelight with Harris in the Miller victory.

REFFKE OR CROWE TO FACE NEENAH SUNDAY

Either Reffke, ace of the 1927 mound staff of the Appleton baseball club of the Fox River Valley League, or "Dats" Crowe, a star pitcher of the team two years ago, will toe the mound against Neenah-Menasha in the opening game of the league season here Sunday afternoon. Manager Dutch Brautigan announced Thursday. The boys will get their final workouts Thursday and Friday with an easy tapering off Saturday, and the hurler who appears in the best condition to start will get the nod with his mate in reserve. Murphy and Rock, new men but widely experienced will handle the backstop work. Another outfielder has been added to the squad and he will start in one of the positions Sunday. The man is Al Gosha, who played shortstop for Kaukauna in the loop last year and before that time played short, third and in the outfield for Appleton. Gosha's real place is in the outfield and he will be back where he can show his best game Sunday.

SIXTH WARD SOFTBALL TEAM OPENS PRACTICE

The Sixth Ward Home Brewers softball team will be reorganized for the 1928 season Thursday evening at the Sixth ward school grounds. Manager Walter Schultz has issued a call for candidates for the teams to report at the opening practice.

PLAYING PREXY

C. O. BAETZ

Magnates of the Fox River Valley Baseball League set a precedent this week at a meeting and as a result the league will have the only "playing president in captivity" this season. The moguls decided that C. O. Baetz, the local outfielder for the last three years, who succeeded C. L. PreFontaine as league president, can play with the Appleton club this summer.

Eastern Triangular Boat Race Attracts Interest

New York—(P)—No early season college regatta in many a moon has attracted such widespread interest as the triangular contest this Saturday on the Schuylkill river among the varsity crews of Yale, Columbia and Pennsylvania.

It is not only the first racing test of the spring, for these three boat-teams, but in one and the same regatta, for the first time, the coaching systems of the new eastern Big Three will be subjected to test.

These three guiding minds are "Young Dick" Glendon, who turned out the intercollegiate championship eight at Columbia last year; Ed Leader, whose Ell varsities have lost only two races in the last five years; and Rusty Callow, at the Pennsylvania helm for the first time after five years of brilliant success with Washington's oarsmen.

It will be the famous Glendon stroke against a brace of varieties that have a Washington background, for both Leader and Callow come from the same school of rowing in the far west. Yale has won this three cornered regatta, now involving the possession of the Blackwell challenge cup, five successive years but it will be an upset if it beats Columbia this week. Penn is the rank outsider.

These early spring regattas are not always convincing but it appears that Columbia's veteran material and experience are sufficient to offset any conditions handicaps that the New Yorkers have labored under.

Columbia has six veterans of last year's Poughkeepsie triumph while Pennsylvania has only three survivors of its 1927 crew and Yale one, outside the Coxswain, Captain Pete Stewart.

BIG SPORT SUMMER

Here are a few of the outstanding "naturals" in prospects as the outdoor competitive whirl gathers headway:

Lo Barnes and Sabin Carr in the polevault competition at the intercollegiate in Cambridge late this month.

Helen Willis and Betty Nuthall in women's tennis competition, in France or England.

Charley Paddock and Charley Borah, the Southern California rivals, in the Olympic sprint tryouts.

Lloyd Hahn and Paavo Nurmi in the Olympic "1500."

Walter Hagen and Archie Compston in the golf season here Saturday when Coach Andy Leith's boys engage Marquette University in a match over the Maple Bluff course. This preliminary match has just been scheduled and will give the Badger golfers a chance to test their skill before stepping into their first Big Ten contest. The personnel of the Wisconsin team has not been announced by Coach Leith. Saturday's match will get under way at nine o'clock in the morning.

FOX VALLEY LEAGUE HAS PLAYING PREXY

Set New Precedent in Baseball by Allowing Appleton Man to Play

What is thought to be a world's record of some kind was set by moguls of the Fox River Valley Baseball League this week when they allowed C. O. Baetz, league president, to play baseball with the Appleton club, of which he has been a member since its organization three years ago and manager for two of the years. Last year he was business manager, Joe Shields and Dutch Brautigan, present leader, sharing the field boss job. It is believed that no other league in the world has a playing president that no other league ever had one or perhaps ever will have one, even though now a precedent is set.

This season, when Baetz accepted the presidency, he decided to sit on the side lines and watch others go to it. However, the call of the game proved just a bit too much for him to resist and he practiced with the Appleton club. As a result, he told the moguls that he wanted to play some more and they were all agreeable.

The club owners set the stage for the opening games on Sunday. Forfeited money has been deposited and players' contracts are in the hands of the secretary. The moguls placed their approval on the umpiring staffs elected by the league president. Several other minor details were ironed out and every one of the club owners announced that they were ready for the pennant chase.

BADGERS OPEN LINKS YEAR WITH MARQUETTE

Madison—Wisconsin will open her golf season here Saturday when Coach Andy Leith's boys engage Marquette University in a match over the Maple Bluff course. This preliminary match has just been scheduled and will give the Badger golfers a chance to test their skill before stepping into their first Big Ten contest. The personnel of the Wisconsin team has not been announced by Coach Leith. Saturday's match will get under way at nine o'clock in the morning.

OUSTED TREASURER OF GIANTS TO OPEN SUIT

New York—(P)—Ousted as treasurer of the National Exhibition Co., which operates the New York Giants, Francis X. McQuade Thursday threatened legal proceedings. McQuade, still the third largest stockholder in the baseball corporation, criticized Charles A. Stoneham's administration of the club's affairs, charging that the president "handled the club's money as if it were his own and had no regard for the minority stockholders, including myself."

Closing his manifesto, McQuade said: "In the near future, by appropriate court action, the public will learn much more about Mr. Stoneham's methods."

Deauville, Ill.—(P)—Kid Yokum, University of Illinois, outpointed Hershe Wilson, Gary, Ind., (8).

BOBBY PUZZLED WHEN HE READS OF HAIG LOSS

Atlanta, Ga.—When news of Walter Hagen's terrific lacing at the hands of Archie Compston was told Bobby Jones, that young man was the most surprised person in the world. "I know Hagen was just off the steamer and that he had been out of Hollywood for some time, but his being that far down to any opponent hard for me to realize," he said. Jones does think, however, that Compston's victory was a great thing for British golf and probably a prove a greater incentive to British this summer when they come to against American players in the various tournaments.

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Mrs. Emily Post selects OLD GOLD

"Personally, I have never acquired a taste for tobacco. For most cigarettes seem to burn my tongue and sting my throat. The only time I ever smoke, therefore, is in courtesy to someone coming to my house, who would lay her accustomed cigarette aside unless I at least lit one, too.

"It seemed absurd, at first, that I should be chosen to attempt this blindfold test . . . except that never having become a smoker, my taste is extremely sensitive to the burning harshness of the average cigarette.

"But I was very much surprised to find that I had chosen OLD GOLD as being perceptibly smooth, stinging and pleasant to taste. In fact, I now quite easily understand why the OLD GOLD compartment in my general cigarette box must be so constantly refilled."

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant.

MRS. EMILY POST (MRS. PRICE POST)

Author of "ETIQUETTE" and the Authoritative Arbiter of Social Usage

Only the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant are good enough for OLD GOLD.

That's the bedrock reason for "not a cough in a carload." The tobacco itself! That's the whole story of OLD GOLD's honey-like smoothness. Made from the golden-ripe heart-leaves of the tobacco plant you can tell the difference even in the dark.

BADGERS BATTLE MAROON BALL NINE

Strong Showing of Cardinals to Date Surprise to Followers

Madison — The Chicago-Wisconsin ball game Saturday has been designated as "Civic Club Day" by the Wisconsin athletic department. All service club members will attend as guests of the Badger officials.

Announcement was made of the cancellation of the St. Louis University game, scheduled for May 8 at Camp Randall field. Wisconsin played St. Louis in the final game of their southern trip, winning by a score of 7 to 4. Since that time the Cardinals have been deprived of the playing field, and have found it necessary to abandon baseball.

Following the Badgers' unexpected upset of the championship Illinois team at Urbana on Monday, plans are being made to accommodate a record crowd for Saturday's tilt with the Maroons. Thus far the Cards are boasting a .566 per centage in the Big Ten standings, their one loss being to Iowa in a tough 12 inning encounter.

The work of Coach Lowman's boys in their early conference games has far surpassed the expectations of the most optimistic fan. Offsetting their inexperience with their spirit and dash, the Badgers have been dangerous in every game played.

Lowman has solved the right field problem temporarily at least with the shifting of "Doc" Beebe, utility infielder, to the outer regions. Beebe collected three safeties on the road trip to Iowa and Illinois and will start the game Saturday in the right garden. Wisconsin may depend upon a re-veteran pitcher in the Maroon game. Bill Mosen is likely to take the mound for his first start against a conference team, as the vets will see service at Ann Arbor on next Monday when the Cardinal hooks up with the league leading Wolverines.

RULE INDIANA BALL PLAYER INELIGIBLE

Bloomington, Ind. — (AP) — Indiana's hopes of winning the Big Ten baseball championship have been dimmed by the ineligibility of its captain, Jimmy Burke.

Major John Griffith has ruled Burke ineligible because he played one summer with a semi-professional club. Burke has been a mainstay in the Hoosier lineup, leading them to second place in the conference standings with three victories and one defeat.

Swedish King Tennis Star King Gustav of Sweden goes strong for tennis. He even participates in tournaments on the continent but usually under a pseudonym. He was entered in a recent Paris tournament under the name of "Mr. Gee."

ILLINI STAR

Major league baseball scouts have been beating a path around the University of Illinois field looking over Bud Stewart, senior at the university, who is tagged as one of the best college pitchers in the country. He was the star pitcher on the team that tied for the Western Conference last year and in his first forty innings this year held his opponents to two runs and shut them out for 27 consecutive innings.

PYLE LOSES AUTO TO SHERIFF IN ILLINOIS

Normal, Ill. — (AP) — Charles "Cash" Pyle didn't loiter about in his $25,000 "land yacht" to watch his army of trans-continental racers plod their way to fame and fortune Thursday. Instead he rode in an open flivver. The luxury that has been his since the start of the cross country derby at Los Angeles, March 4, was ended abruptly near Joliet Wednesday when a deputy sheriff seized the "land yacht," a 12-ton truck equipped with a radio, shower bath, berths, electrical refrigeration and every modern convenience.

The writ was drawn in favor of the defunct Illinois Trust and Savings Bank of Champaign, Ill., receivers of which say Pyle owes the bank $21,500 on an unsecured note.

Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England, lost 35 minutes and one second of his lead in the derby by finishing in a tie for sixteenth place in the 34.6 mile jaunt from Lincoln to Normal but still retains his lead over the field of 71 runners of four hours and 51 minutes. It was the first day the

GET FIRST ENTRY IN BLUE TOURNEY

Wrightstown High, Led by Star Hurdler, Sends in Final Blank

Lead by Charley Hardy, crack high hurdler and broad jumper, Wrightstown high school is the first school to get its final entry to officials of the first annual Lawrence College Interstate Interscholastic Track and Field meet which will be held on May 19 at Whiting field. The Wrightstown school is entered in Class B. The final entry contains the list of athletes in each event and is received after the entry of the school alone, by which Lawrence officials can estimate the number of groups entered. Present indications are that at least 34 schools will have teams in the meet, including some of the best prep teams in the midwest, and this number is considered successful for the first meet tried. Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan are represented.

Hardy is well-known to valley sport fans for his work at the indoor track carnival held recently at the Columbus club, Green Bay. He topped the high hurdles in great style, whipping Gallenberger of West Green Bay, Valley conference champion for two years, and Towles of Manitowoc, another star. His time was better than the Valley record though he was from a much smaller school. He also finished second to the great Swede Johnston of Appleton in the broad jump, pushing him all the way.

The Wrightstown entry list: 120-yard high hurdles—C. Hardy, W. Hardy. 100-yard dash—V. Kussow. 440—E. Mueller. Half-mile—J. Hardy. 220-yard dash—E. Mueller. 220-yard low hurdles—C. Hardy, W. Hardy. Mile run—C. Duckett, N. Laskowski. High jump—W. Hardy. Shot put—R. Krautkramer. Pole vault—V. Kussow, T. Hannaway. Discus—R. Krautkramer. Javelin—E. Mueller. T. Hannaway. Broad jump—C. Hardy.

SEVEN VIKINGS IN HAMLINE CONTESTS

Two Relay Teams and High Jumper to Represent Lawrence

Seven Lawrence college trackmen will accompany Coach A. C. Denny to St. Paul Saturday to take part in the annual relay carnival of Hamline University, a Midwest conference school. The Vikings will enter two college relay events and one man will take part in the special events.

Members of the half-mile relay team are Don and Captain Don and Doug Hyde, Appleton. Pope, Neenah and Brusat, Milwaukee, the four sprinters of the team. The medley relay will see the Hyde brothers again in action. Doug in the 220 and Don in the 440. Menning of Appleton will run the half-mile and Wolfe, Milwaukee, the mile. In the special events, DeCoy Ellis, Elgin, Ill., will be entered in the high jump.

Negotiations for the Lake Forest meet, which was postponed from two weeks ago because the inclement weather cut down the outdoor practice almost entirely, were resumed by Mr. Denny this week. It is expected that the meet will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday of next week or the following Tuesday at Lake Forest.

The Hamline meet is divided into four classes, college relays, high school relays, academy relays and junior college relays. Mr. Denny said. St. Olaf, St. Thomas, Hamline, MacAlester, Carleton and others are expected to battle the Blues for the relay title in their class, with the crack Carleton sprinters. Midwest champions last year, as the favorite to win most of the events.

MORE MONEY AVAILABLE FOR STATE FIRE MARSHAL

Madison — (AP) — Approximately $9,000 is made available to the state fire marshal for his investigations by an opinion given Milton A. Freedy, insurance commissioner, by the attorney general. The ruling holds that the insurance commission may use money accruing to it by failure of cities, towns and villages to avail themselves of the amount of 2 percent on fire insurance premiums sold by companies in their communities.

The 2 percent goes only to those cities, towns and villages which maintain fire fighting equipment, duly inspected, and approved by the industrial commission.

The $9,000 has accumulated in the treasury during the past few years due to failures to comply with fire-fighting equipment regulations or inspections.

About $1,000 annually will be realized by the commission from that source, according to J. E. Kennedy, state fire marshal.

CHOIR REHEARSING FOR COMING PLAY

Rehearsals are being held daily at St. Joseph hall by members of church choir, which is preparing to present the musical comedy, "In Hot Tancie Land," in the next three or four weeks, the date to be decided later. Professor A. J. Theiss is directing the production and also will direct a 10-piece orchestra which will furnish music for the show. About 30 people will take part in the play. There are ten principal characters and 20 members of choruses.

REELECT OFFICERS OF POLICE AND FIRE BOARD

A. G. Koch and E. A. Schmalz were reelected president and secretary at the annual meeting of the fire and police commission Wednesday evening. The meeting was held in the office of the secretary. The commission completed the year's business and then organized for the new year. Members are A. G. Koch, E. A. Schmalz, P. J. Ryan, Kurt Koletzke and L. O. Wissman.

COUNTY DELAYS ACTION ON REMOVING END WALLS

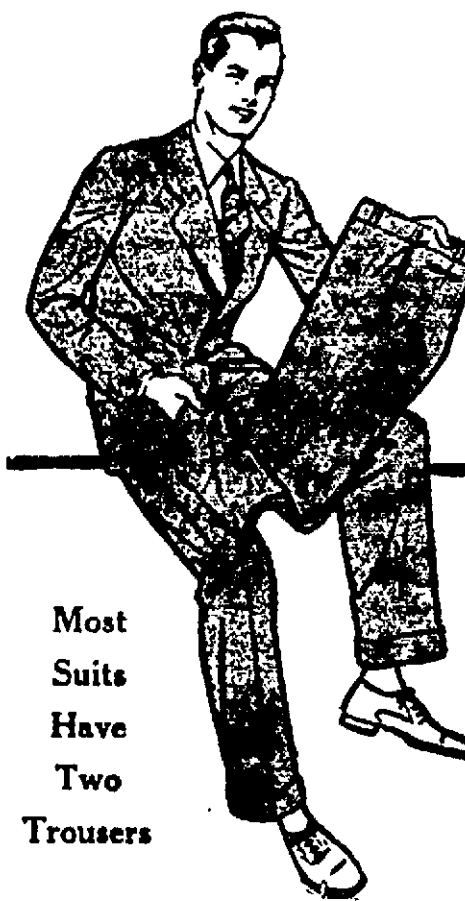

No steps have been taken by the highway committee to remove concrete culvert end walls on county trunk highways, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. Destruction of end walls was ordered by the county board at its April session. It is estimated it will cost from $12 to $16 to destroy an end wall. Mr. Brusewitz said the highway committee probably would discuss the removal of the wall at its next meeting.

LA TE SPRING EXPECTED TO HELP WISCONSIN FRUIT GROWERS

DOOR-CO HAS GOOD PROSPECT FOR BIG CROP OF CHERRIES

Lateness of Season Is Big Factor in Giving Cheerful Outlook

Sturgeon Bay.—If the cherry crop is normal this season, 4,000,000 cans will be needed in the regular way and 10,000 five gallon barrels will be filled with cold pack cherries, predicts Herman W. Ulsperger, manager of the Door-co Fruit Growers' Union.

Notwithstanding this big prospect, the kinds of Early Richmond variety of cherry trees suffered a 40 percent injury this spring. No injury has been done to Montmorency trees, the other one of the two popular kinds in Door county.

Last winter was much more favorable to a cherry crop than was the previous winter and this spring being late is also very favorable. "The prospect for a normal crop or better are very promising," said Mr. Ulsperger.

More than the usual acreage of cherry trees was planted in Door county, the last two springs. Sixty thousand cherry trees were planted in the county this spring.

Cherry growers are through pruning trees this spring and are now cultivating their orchards. They are using more fertilizer than ever before and already have ordered 400 tons of Ammonium Sulphate.

E. F. Wilson, an expert in cherry growing, is stationed in the Door-co territory and devotes all his time to the studying of cherry pests and diseases, and sending out information about spraying and the most successful methods of producing cherries.

"The entire cherry crop for 1928 is already sold at a fixed price as canned goods and cold pack," said Mr. Ulsperger. "Cold pack has become popular during the past three years."

In addition to cherries, Door-co has 2,000 acres planted with sweet corn this spring. It is expected that the crop will be about 100 bushels per acre.

The blossoming time of apple and cherry trees in Door-co last spring was about May 25. This year they are expected to blossom a week later than last spring or about June 1.

TREATING POTATOES IS SIMPLE PROCESS

But It Yields Big Returns to Farmers, Plant Pathologist Says

Madison.—(P)—Two plans for treating seed potatoes to combat scab and scurf, common tuber diseases which cause potato growers a large annual loss, are being advocated by R. E. Vaughan, plant pathologist at the Wisconsin college of agriculture.

For all practical purposes, corrosive sublimate or hot formaldehyde are equally effective in checking these fungus diseases which appear on seed potatoes as black spots, scurf, and scab, says Vaughan.

"In any section where scab or scurf is known to exist, the treatment of the seed proves to be a very profitable investment," he said. "The cost is small, and the increased yields and the time used in the work. Many growers make it a practice to treat all the potatoes every season."

Corrosive sublimate is used at the rate of an ounce in 7 1/2 gallons of water, or four ounces in 30 gallons. The seed potatoes are soaked in the solution for one and one-half hours. By adding one-fourth to one-half ounce of the sublimate to the water after each four bushels are treated, the strength of the solution can be maintained at normal.

Corrosive sublimate, which is a deadly poison, should be kept away from livestock, and should never be used on potatoes after they are cut. Immediately after treatment the seed should be dried.

Because of the short time required to treat the seed, hot formaldehyde is finding favor with many growers, according to the pathologist. One pound of formaldehyde is used in 15 gallons of water. It is important that the temperature of the solution be kept between 100 and 125 degrees Fahrenheit. Unless especially constructed machines are available, this method of treatment is difficult to use.

The potatoes are kept in the solution between two and three minutes. They are then covered for an hour, after which they should be dried thoroughly.

While other methods for treating seed potatoes have proved effective under some conditions, as, for example, the treatment called organic mercuries, Mr. Vaughan feels farmers will find it most satisfactory to continue with either the corrosive sublimate or hot formaldehyde methods, at least until the newer plans have proved efficient under a wider variety of conditions.

OATS SMUTS COSTLY
Washington.—(P)—During the past 10 years, the department of agriculture says, oats smuts have taken estimated annual tolls ranging from 25,000,000 to 91,000,000 bushels and an estimated average annual toll of 45,000,000 bushels.

NEBRASKA INCREASES FORAGE
Lincoln, Neb.—(P)—The Nebraska acreage of sweet clover has increased twelve fold in the last six years, figures at the state agricultural college here reveal. Alfalfa acreage has doubled in 20 years, in spite of heavy losses from winter injury.

CATTLE AND COTTON
Jackson, Miss.—(P)—Bacon Aldrich, owner of an 800-acre farm and a herd of 110 beef cattle, declares that by building up his soil fertility the cattle are directly responsible for increasing his cotton yield from 10 bales to 120 bales on the same acreage.

Greenville Farmer Has Seen Whole Fabric Of Life Change In His Lifetime

BY W. F. WINSEY

ONE of the staunch substantial, progressive farmers of the town of Greenville is John Knapstein, who was born on the farm he now owns, and who, with the exception of six years, has lived on the farm all his life.

From the time when the axe, handspike, and grubber, scythe, cradles and the flail were the latest and most useful inventions, and oxen were the lords of the fields, Mr. Knapstein has witnessed the introduction of the circular saw, the mower, the dropper, the wire binder, the steam thrasher, horse teams, the motor truck, the tractor, the telephone, electric lights in place of the tallow candle and lantern, water plants in the place of troughs and wooden buckets.

He has seen the knitting needles, the spinning wheel and the hand loom go after they had served their purpose. He has seen the cow revolutionize farming in Greenville and Outagamie-co.

Mr. Knapstein has personally seen involved the introduction of a large number of these improvements. At eleven years of age, he bound one of four stations behind a six foot dropper, he drove the first wire binder used in the town of Greenville and he used the first telephone set up in the town of Greenville.

Lately the children except two make their home with their father, William, a son, whose business is in New London, makes his home with his father, So does Dr. Theodore, a veterinarian, Miss Mamie whose professional duties require her presence in Appleton during the day, John, a son, and Nick, a son-in-law, are helping with the work on the farm.

It has been Mr. Knapstein's rule to help his children into business or a profession or to pay them wages if they prefer to work on the farm after they reached the age of 21 years.

He gives the dairy the preference over all other lines of farming. Although he occasionally sells some grain, his purpose is to feed everything raised on the farm except cash crops. He is in the dairy business with a herd of 10 grade Holsteins including 31 cows. He raises all the hogs he can handle and that prices warrant. He reserves skum milk as feed for calves, hogs and chickens. This spring he will sow 57 acres of oats, 4 acres of wheat and plant 45 acres of corn, 2 acres of potatoes and 8 acres of cab bage.

He pays $150 a month for his farm help and this, with the cost of repairs, improvements, machinery and living gives him a big overhead, but he is getting on very nicely notwithstanding.

BEES USE WINGS FOR OTHER THINGS THAN TO FLY WITH

Don't Like to Make Comb Honey and Will Not Unless Forced to Do So

Madison.—(P)—Bees have another use for their wings besides flitting from flower to flower and back to the hive. They use their wings to evaporate the water that is in the original nectar.

When honey is first gathered from the flowers it is almost as thin as water, James Gwin, honey marketing markets revealed here today. He said that the ripening process takes more than a week, the bees working nights fanning the nectar to evaporate the water content. The bees then "cap" the honey with beeswax.

Mr. Gwin said that many beekeepers try to rush the work of the bees and take the honey when it is still green, that it really has the green appearance and is then more susceptible to spoiling and being unattractive to the purchaser.

The bee and honey expert said that comb honey is becoming rare, that while "choice comb honey is at the very acme of daintiness, clearly and healthfully sweet, the quality produced each season is limited and very often the price is below the actual cost of production although it seems high to the consumer. Many bee men are giving up production of comb honey entirely because of its uncertainty and the greater possibility of failure.

He explained the reason for the scarcity of comb honey.

"The little 'pound' squares (they seldom weigh a pound) of comb honey that you buy in the stores are produced quite differently from the liquid honey that comes in cans and glass jars."

"The little square wood frames that surround the honey comb are made from basswood and a thin sheet of pure beeswax, imprinted with the exact size and shape of the center of the honey comb is fastened inside the frame. These sections are placed, 24 in a box on top of a colony of bees, like a second story to their house."

The bees are designed the task of finishing and filling the combs. The bees dislike to work in these small sections and only do so when there is a great deal of nectar being secreted.

FROZEN BLUEBERRIES BRING HAPPINESS TO GROWERS IN MAINE

Portland, Me.—(P)—Frozen strawberries having made a big hit in large cities of the country, Maine's blueberry growers claim that a demand has now been created for frozen blueberries.

This state produces about 92 percent of all blueberries grown in the United States. The demand for the frozen berries is expected to stabilize prices, thus making business more profitable for the growers.

The purpose of National Egg Week, as explained by Hayes, is to induce people to eat eggs three times every day but to acquaint them with the food value of this common farm product. Hayes is chairman of a committee of farm and poultry leaders who aid in the project in the state.

These include W. A. Duffy, state commissioner of agriculture, D. H. Otis, of the American Bankers' association; Miss Gladys Stillman, home economics department of the state university; A. A. Brown, state department of markets; and J. A. Adams, Wisconsin Poultry Breeders' association.

TOBACCO CROP PAYS BIG RETURNS FOR CAROLINA SISTERS

Winston-Salem, N. C.—(P)—Farm relief is no problem so far as Della and Etta Bradley, sisters, are concerned.

They have just deposited $2,400 as proceeds from a tobacco crop harvested on three and a half acres of land, which they planted, worked, gathered, cured and sold without aid or advice.

When they are not farming the sisters are occupied in the city, where Della is a teacher in the high school and Etta a student in a business college.

161 OUTAGAMIE-CO MOTHERS GET $3,153 PENSIONS IN APRIL

Appleton, With 76, Leads in Number of Those Receiving Benefits

A total of 161 mothers in Outagamie received $3,152.75 in mothers' pensions from the county during April, according to a report by Mrs. Alma Noyes, stenographer in charge of mother pension records. This is an average of approximately $19.50 for each mother receiving aid.

Each month, according to Mrs. Noyes, more pensions are granted, some increased and some decreased or discontinued, so that the total for two months is seldom the same.

Appleton, which has 76 mothers receiving pensions totaling $1,511, gets almost half the total amount paid by the county each month. Kaukauna, which has 20 pensioners, received $482 in aid for April. The town of Oneida, with 11 dependent mothers, got $118.75 in April.

The pensions range from $7.50 to $30 per month. Mothers making application for pension, file their claim in county court and the county poor committee, headed by Supervisor Anton Jensen, Little Chute, investigates the application and determines its validity and the amount deserved. Checks are sent to the mothers on the first day of each month.

In some instances, when investigation shows that the mothers are not spending the money wisely, it is turned over to the town chairman or the city chief of police, who supervises the expenditures.

Other towns and villages in the county, the number of mothers receiving pensions and the total amount of money they received, is as follows: Grand Chute, 2, $25; Bear Creek, 1, $25; Third ward, New London, 7, $135; Hortonla, 1, $25; Deer Creek, 2, $30; Kimberly, 9, $215; town of Kaukauna, 2, $80; Freedom, 1, $15; Seymour village, 1, $10; Dale, 1, $25; Hortonville, 5, $125; Maine, 2, $35; Ellington, 2, $35; Shiocton, 4, $75; town of Seymour, 1, $15; Vandalia, 1, $10; town of Black Creek, 2, $40; Center, 1, $15; Greenville, 1, $10; Combined Locks, 1, $10; Little Chute, 7, $137.

CHAMBER WANTS CITY TO CLEAN UP GROUNDS

Unless action is taken by the city to clean up the city grounds where pig fairs are held the last Saturday in each month the chamber of commerce intends to take the matter before the city council, according to Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the chamber.

A representative of a delegation of farmers recently called at the chamber and said that the city's sand pile and storage of a large number of used automobiles on the city grounds was keeping many farmers from attending the fairs.

Trout Hanging Out On Bottoms Of Stream Now

BY R. A. CLAFLIN

When this article appears most of the first day trout fishermen will have returned from their trips. Some will have fish and some will not. That has always been the case, even in the days when the trout were plentiful. Within a radius of fifty miles the streams are not unusually high at this time. According to reports from the "front" there is very little, if any, snow remaining in the woods and the presence of that is, of course, largely the cause of high water, although rains will cause it when sufficient quantities fall even though most of it soaks into the ground after the first is out.

Most fishermen will use worms for the first day trip. They think, as a rule, that the trout will not take flies, but if the artificial lures are properly used, they will be found successful. Dry flies, which are used to imitate the alighting of an insect upon the surface of the water, will not do at this time of the year because there are, generally speaking, no natural insects abroad. However, a wet fly properly used will be found about as successful as the garden insect. When a small shot is attached a few inches above it. By using a sinker in this manner you can get it down along the bottom of the stream where the trout hang out. There are three reasons why their natural food is there and anything which shows life by reason of its either floating along the bottom or due to a jerky motion the fisherman imparts to it, will be taken quite readily. Small live minnows, or a portion of a chub tail is effective, but you must also get it down along the bottom. The addition of a bright spinner is also helpful and will deceive the wary trout when it will utterly fail later on the season.

Reports which we have received indicate the presence of snow in the woods up in Vilas county and along the streams of Michigan which means that undoubtedly most of the fishermen who go up to those places are quite apt to be disappointed. Our idea of real fishing pleasure is to go when the weather has settled.

say, about June first. Then the foliage is out, the air of the woods is sweet scented, everything about you indicates that nature has thoroughly awoken and, best of all, the trout will take your flies. Then it matters not just where you go. You will enjoy the outing. You may hit the Wolf or the Embarrass; the Rat or the Otter; the Haymeadow or the Prairie; and if you are a fisherman, are properly equipped and possess a knowledge of the game, you will get trout, enough at least to make your trip one of success and great pleasure.

On some of the brushy streams you will be able to cut an alder in the woods and catch some fish, but your reward will be greater if you have a good fly rod, the proper sort of a line, about a seven and a half foot leader, and then be able to get your fly out into the spots where the speckled beauties hold forth, and where they are not alarmed by a sight of you or of your shadow. Don't try and see how much water you can cover in a day; work along slowly and cautiously, casting carefully into every likely looking spot several times before giving it up. A little experience will tell you where a fish should be. He may not rise to the first cast, but patience and skill will bring him out. Try the foam covered spots, holes under the banks and swirls of water caused by the presence of sunken limbs or rocks.
